Akron Airship Leaves Tonight For Lakehurst

World's Largest Dirigible Will Be Taken To Naval Base In New Jersey

BECOMES UNIT OF U. S. NAVY

Secretary Adams Electrifies Akron, Ohio, With News Of Second Big Ship

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Oct. 21.—The "zero hour" for the take-off of the U. S. S. Akron, new navy dirigible, for its future home dock at Lakehurst, N. J., has been definitely set for 4:30 p. m. today, it was announced by naval officials here.

AKRON, O., Oct. 21.—Sometime late this evening the world's largest airship, the U. S. S. Akron, was to weigh anchor at the Goodyear-Zeppelin dock here for the last time and point its nose toward Lakehurst, N. J., the Navy's dirigible base. There it will take its place along the U. S. S. Los Angeles as a regular unit of the Navy.

In ordering Lieut. Com. Charles E. Rosendahl to have the mammoth air cruiser in Lakehurst by Thursday, Secretary of the Navy Charles F. Adams let it be known that he had authorized construction of the sistership, the ZRS-5.

Good News For Akron

That information electrified this city, especially the 800 men who are assured fifteen months more steady work on the second dirigible. The new ship will cost only $2,450,000, or about half the cost of the Akron, it was stated, the difference being due to development of construction facilities.

The Akron will leave behind two Navy officers, who will supervise construction of the second ship. Preliminary work for constructing the first great ring for the ZRS-4 already have been completed.

Weather Favorable.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

There was quite a contrast between yesterday's weather and that of a year ago. The highest temperature reached on October 20 last year, was equal to the lowest mark recorded during the night, namely 40 degrees. In addition, they had snow a year ago.

A parked car along North Mercer street this morning was decorated by a sign which read: "For Hire. Call X X X."

Pa Newc caught his first sight of pre-Hallowe'en masqueraders last night. It's only a week before the celebration and the parties are now under way.

Pedestrians who had occasion to use Sycamore alley this morning were in danger of being gassed. An electric refrigerator was being repaired at one of the stores and the ammonia fumes were escaping from the machine. It was very noticeable to those who had occasion to pass the spot, but being out of doors there was little danger of anyone being overcome.

Traffic conditions at the intersection of Marshall and East Washington street will be helped by the rounding of the Marshall curb line. City workmen were making the improvement today.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. Weather bureau statistics for the 24 hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning follow:
Maximum temperature, 72.
Minimum temperature, 40.
Precipitation .01 inches, dew.
River stage 3.8 feet, stationary.

Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:
Maximum temperature, 40.
Minimum temperature, 32.
Precipitation .01 inches, snowfall.

MRS. AGNES LEROI MISS HEDVIG SAMUELSON

Los Angeles police have been conducting a search for the 100-pound wife of a prominent Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz., physician, who is said to be the perpetrator of the double murder of Mrs. Agnes Leroi, left, and Miss Hedvig Samuelson, right, both of Phoenix, following the discovery of the bodies of the two women locked in trunks in a Los Angeles railroad station. A brother of the woman, Mrs. Ruth Judd, has confessed to Los Angeles police that his sister admitted the killings to him. According to the brother Mrs. Judd declared she was "perfectly justified." Mrs. Judd's husband declares she is suffering from tuberculosis.

Business Is Showing Favorable Improvement

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Unusually favorable reports of improved employement conditions were received today from New England by the department of commerce. At Rochester, N. H., one company was operating on day and night shifts; at Providence, R. I., and Fall River, Mass., yarn mills were employing additional men; at New Bedford, Mass., a silk mill was opening new units while in other scattered localities there were substantial gains in textile and shoe manufactories.

The reports showed improvements to more optimistic feeling in Boston, Pittsburgh, Wilmington, Del., Atlanta, Memphis, Louisville, Chicago, Buffalo and Salt Lake City.

From Pittsburgh came a report that sentiment is improving on account of expected increases in orders in the automotive industry and railroads.

There was a buoyant feeling in business circles that conditions are about to improve, according to Atlanta's reports.

American Army Ace Makes Speedy Flight From Ottawa To Mexico City

PLANS RETURN TO UNITED STATES

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—Recovering from a slight attack of carbon monoxide gas poisoning suffered during his flight from Ottawa, Canada to Mexico City, Major James H. Doolittle, famous American speed flier, rested here today as the guest of Mexican army aviation officials. He said he planned to return to the United States tomorrow, probably flying first to St. Louis.

Doolittle made the Ottawa-Mexico City flight of approximately 2500 miles in 11 hours 45 minutes flying time, but his total elapsed time was increased to 12 hours 36 minutes by stops at Washington, D. C., Birmingham, Ala., and Corpus Christi, Texas.

Trip Uninteresting.

"I was bothered by gas leaking from the exhaust," Doolittle said. "It made me ill, but the trip itself was uninteresting. I had a tail wind to Washington and easy head winds the rest of the way, and was delayed by ground fog at Washington. The average speed was more than 200 miles per hour."

Bury Edison This Afternoon

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 21.—Thomas A. Edison was back in his home today for a few short hours before he leaves it for the last time to be buried in Rosedale cemetery this afternoon.

He was moved, lying calm and still and serene in his heavy bronze coffin, just before dawn this morning. He went in silence, accompanied by the soft shuffle of the feet of the men who carried him. Silence received him into the house on the hill in Llewelyn Park which covers him now for the last time.

He lies now in the large high-vaulted room where the measured words of a Methodist clergyman will waft over him, unheeded and unheard as the words of clergymen ever passed him unheeded and unheard in life.

Now the final curtain impends. It poises on its rollers ready to lower over the last scene, the funeral. And that is the center of the interest of the world.

Some of the celebrities are already here. Henry and Edsel Ford and their wives, Harvey Firestone and his wife and their sons, Russell, Harvey S. Jr., and their wives, and Leonard, the bachelor son.

They motored from New York and went directly to Glenmont, the Edison home. They came down to the

Railroads Must Formulate Plan To Pool Increase

Interstate Commerce Commission Decision On Freight Rates Occasions Action

FLAT INCREASE IS NOT ALLOWED

Railroads Will Plan To Pool $125,000,000 In Revenues From Increases

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The proposal of the interstate commerce commission conditioning its freight rate increase program on a pooling of the potential gain of $125,000,000 in revenues, may be rejected by the railroads, it was rumored here today.

The prosperous roads have stubbornly resisted every effort to have them pool their resources or share their revenues with the weaker carriers. They have opposed such a plan on the ground it was contrary to the interstate commerce act, would be costly and in opposition to the principles of valuation embodied in the law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The nation's railroads today faced the task of formulating an agreement to pool a potential increase of approximately $125,000,000 in revenues in order to take advantage of the interstate commerce commission's decision to allow them a small increase in freight rates on certain commodities.

This plan, to stabilize railroad securities, was proposed by the commission as an alternative after it had unanimously denied the carriers' petition for a flat increase of 15 per cent in rates. The increases are proposed for only a limited period.

The increased rates will be condi-

Almost seven thousand dollars was added to the New Castle Community Chest at the noon report meeting held today bringing the total to date to $23,867.05.

This means that the workers will have to expand extra effort during the three closing days of the campaign, if they are to reach the $50,000 goal which they started out for the first of the week.

Fine reports were received from the school teachers of four additional schools and the school janitor force, whose contributions totalled $1122.70. They have been responding most liberally in the campaign this year and get a big hand from the other workers when their reports are submitted each day.

SAYS JAPAN RECOGNIZES KELLOGG PACT OBLIGATIONS

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Oct. 21.—The government of Japan fully recognizes its obligations under the Kellogg pact for the outlawry of war and has no intention of resorting to armed conflict for solution of its differences with China in Manchuria, it was stated tonight in Japan's reply to the identic notes sent to Tokyo by the Kellogg pact signatories at the suggestion of the League of Nations council.

The Japanese reply, prepared by Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara, is to be presented to the various foreign embassies here at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

In its reply, Japan reiterates that its occupation of Manchuria constituted solely a measure of self-defense and in no respect can be construed as an act of war in violation of the terms of the Kellogg pact.

As proof of Japan's readiness to negotiate the issue peacefully, the note cited the Japanese communication to the League of Nations dated October 9, in which the government reviewed at length the situation in Manchuria and expressed a desire for direct negotiations with China as soon as the security of her nationals was guaranteed by the Chinese authorities.

The communication states that Japan believes it should be made clear that anti-Japanese activity and sentiment in China "cannot be interpreted as spontaneous action by individual Chinese" but that they are the result of concerted propaganda "sponsored by organizations taking the law into their own hands."

Criminologists Trying To Figure Out Why Mrs. Ruth Judd Killed Companions

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21 Criminologists investigating circumstances of the weird trunk murder mystery reached several very definite conclusions today.

The murders of Mrs. Agnes Leroi and Miss Hedwig Samuelson were due to a strange form of jealousy, they said.

Jealousy Is Motive

There are certain physical circumstances which appear to place the crime in the same category as the murder of beautiful Doris Murray Palmer at Laguna Beach by Mrs. Guy Bates Post, the famous "Dresden Doll" of musical comedy fame.

The Laguna Beach tragedy has been generally accepted as a crime due to an unnatural love of one woman for another, flaming to murder and suicide through jealousy engendered by the strange passion.

There are, however, some circumstances that indicate the possible aid of a man in the trunk murder of Miss Leroi and Miss Samuelson.

But even into this theory there

Truck Loaded With 18,000 Quarts Of Alleged Whiskey Seized In Delaware

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 21—A truckload of alleged whiskey more than 18,000 quarts, was seized and two men were arrested by state police at Newcastle near here when the policemen became suspicious of the vehicle as it appeared overloaded.

The two men, identifying themselves as Harry Martz, driver of the truck and David McGeaghy, both 45, and of Philadelphia, were held in $500 bail each on charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor when arraigned before Magistrate Cramer at Newcastle. They will be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Albert F. Polk here later today.

An investigation is under way to determine whether the men are connected with the $5,000,000 booze ring recently exposed in Philadelphia.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21.—Belief that an inordinate fondness developed among three women and led to the "double trunk" murder was expressed today by police, as authorities of Western States sought Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd who has evaded capture for 40 hours.

Late Monday afternoon, Mrs. Judd, 27, disappeared in Los Angeles, after assertedly murdering her two chums, Agnes Ann Leroi, 35, a nurse and Hedwig Samuelson, 24, a school teacher, and shipping their bodies here in two trunks.

Hunt For Woman Slayer Extended To Eastern Area

Pittsburgh Police Notified To Be On Lookout For Winnie Ruth Judd And Man

BELIEVED HEADED EAST IN MACHINE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Police are working on the theory that the widely hunted Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, who is said to have admitted to her brother that she was the murderess in the notorious Pacific coast "trunk murders" may be hiding in the east with an accomplice, it was learned here this afternoon.

Coast authorities notified Pittsburgh police to be on the lookout for a man and woman, the latter answering the description of Mrs. Judd. The couple is traveling in an automobile bearing New York license plates, but the man carries a California drivers permit.

Local police also were asked to pass the information to the New Jersey authorities, in the belief that the couple may be apprehended either here or in the neighboring state on their supposed transcontinental journey eastward.

Weight was lent to the theory, police said, by statements from friends and acquaintances of the alleged slayer, to the effect that it would have been physically impossible for a woman of her slight build to have attended to the packing of the bodies in the trunks without the aid of someone considerably stronger than herself.

Advices from the coast stated that authorities there placed considerable credence in the assumption that there was an accomplice and that it was a man, perhaps a narcotic addict.

Local authorities are working on the theory that after being frustrated in her attempt to reclaim the trunks at the Los Angeles baggage room, Mrs. Judd joined her accomplice and the pair set out for the east in an automobile, using little traveled roads in preference to taking the greater risk of capture by attempting to escape on a train.

RAILROADS MUST FORMULATE PLAN TO POOL INCREASE

tional "upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the railroads for the pooling of the revenue accruing from the suggested increases primarily to enable them to meet their fixed interest payments."

The commission specifically stipulated there should be no increase in rates on certain agricultural products and livestock, including wheat, corn, oats, flour, cotton, orchard products, potatoes, rice, grapes, sugar beets, dried beans and peas, barley, logs and railroad ties.

Under the plan the railroads may have an increase of $3 per car on bulk freight such as coal and coke, ores, forest products, stone and gravel.

Steel Rate Increased

An increase of $6 per car will be allowed on shipments of pig iron, rough and finished stone, crude petroleum and scrap iron and steel.

On commodities such as oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes and citrus fruits, melons, cabbage, tomatoes, certain fresh vegetables, dried or evaporated fruits, dried vegetables, peanuts, cottonseed meal and cake, common brick, lubricating oils and greases, petroleum oils, refined, and all other gasoline products, and cement, an increase of one cent per 100 pounds will be granted.

On all other commodities, including all less-than-carload freight, there may be an increase of two cents per 100 pounds.

Optimistic Note

The increases suggested by the commission may also be applied to rates of the boat lines subject to the interstate commerce act.

The commission sounded an optimistic note for the future of the railroads, and held their economic structure was fundamentally sound.

"The railroads now furnish the backbone, and most of the other vital bones of the transportation system of the country, and we believe this will be the situation for a long time to come," it said. "We are not impressed with the thought that they are doomed."

The commission declared the most effective remedy for the immediate ills of the railroads is the economic recovery of the country.

District Men To Meet

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31—Western Pennsylvania coal operators within a few days, were to discuss the recommendations of the Interstate commerce commission that freight rates on coal shipments be raised $5.00 per car on anthracite and bituminous shipments it was announced today.

Although bituminous coal operators in the Pittsburgh district were unanimous in their opposition to the 15 per cent rate increase on all commodities asked by the carriers, their stand on the proposed $3.00 increase will be drawn up at a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania coal traffic bureau to be held shortly.

R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the coal traffic bureau, said western Pennsylvania operators would meet on their return from New York City where the majority of this district's coal officials today were attending the annual meeting of the national coal association.

situation had reached a "crisis which must be settled without further delay."

Secret Session

Immediately upon receipt of the note, M. Briand called a secret session of the five leading members of the council. The United States was not represented at the session, which was held at Briand's hotel.

Persistent reports stated the meeting was called to consider again the five point plan proposed by Japan as a "basis for negotiations."

The principle point discussed, it was understood, was Japan's apparent willingness to evacuate Manchuria provided the League council does not go to the extremity of settling a definite date for withdrawal of Japanese troops.

It was reported Briand suggested Japan's demand in this respect might be met by adjourning the council for a period of three weeks, which was believed acceptable to Japan. The understanding was that during this interim Japanese evacuation would commence, thus permitting Tokyo to carry out the withdrawal of troops as an apparent voluntary act.

Some observers, however, held that adjournment of the council at such a crucial time was out of the question, and that the secret session this morning was the first of a series of concerted council attempts to find some immediate solution to the controversy before the situation becomes further aggravated.

McClelland Is Removed From Post On State Athletic Commission

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21—Dr. Wm. B. McClelland of Brookline, Pittsburgh suburb today was advised by Gov. Gifford Pinchot of his removal as a member of the State Athletic Commission, he informed International News Service.

Dr. McClelland was named last July 30, to succeed Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh sports editor, who had been in office since the commission was created in 1923.

According to local political observers, McClelland was dismissed because he refused to comply with the wishes of Governor Pinchot who in two previous letters was reported to have asked the commissioner to resign.

Friends of Boyle here were confident that Governor Pinchot would reappoint him to the commission as has been rumored for several days.

Pittsburgh Grand Jury Will Investigate All Manner Of Violations

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Additional election law violations, phantom tax assessments and phantom registrations will be investigated today by the October grand jury now in session, it was announced by the District Attorney's office.

Tme grand jury will continue its investigations for the next three weeks and should it then not have completed its work, the November grand jury will continue the investigation, district attorney Andrew T. Park said.

Judge Frank P. Patterson charged the jury and outlined the broadened scope of its work immediately after. Park began calling the first witnesses before the jury. Park yesterday was granted permission by the court to hold the jury following completion of its routine work for consideration of further tax irregularities.

Park held long conferences with six assistants who are expected to play important parts in the grand jury's work.

Governor Pinchot Makes Announcement Of Appointment Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today formally announced the appointment of Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of Pennsylvania State college, as chairman of the Greater Pennsylvania council. One hundred and fifty additional members, as authorized by the legislature, are yet to be appointed.

"Dr. Hetzel is singularly well qualified for the work personally," the governor said in announcing the appointment. "He has had, in addition, the remarkable experience of originating, at least in part, the idea of the New England council, which has done for the New England states, and done most successfully, many of the things we expect the Greater Pennsylvania council to do for the Keystone state."

Charles Reitell, Pittsburgh accountant, who is director of the council, also issued a statement lauding Dr. Hetzel's qualifications for the post.

SEEKING MOTIVE BEHIND COAST "TRUNK MURDERS"

Man Aid Hunted

For, declare the criminologists, even if a man aided Mrs. Judd in the murder or in the disposal of the bodies, the motive for the crime rested basically on Mrs. Judd's strange type of affection for one or both of the women slain. If any man aided in the crime, say the experts, it was a man who regarded the association of Mrs. Judd and the two women who were slain with a fury of jealousy.

The suspected slayer, Mrs. Judd, was 27 years old, a flower-like little creature weighing approximately 100 pounds, beautiful, feverish from consumption, as shown from her letters to her husband.

Mrs. Leroi, one of the women slain was 30 years of age, weighed 150 pounds, a rather large woman of a slightly mannish type.

Miss Samuelson, the other woman slain, about 21 years of age, weighed about 125 pounds and was extremely feminine and of the clinging vine type.

Mrs. Leroi was slain while she wore only the most sheer of silken night robes. Then the slayer, who had first shot her, beat her face until it was almost unrecognizable.

Miss Samuelson was slain while entirely unclad, or else she was undressed after the tragedy.

Body Desecrated

The slayer then dismembered her body, apparently with surgical instruments, and on doing so made some of the characteristic slashes on the torso similar in some ways to the desecration of Alberta Meadows by her slayer, Clara Phillips.

These circumstances, say criminologists, all run into the type of crime involving an all-woman triangle.

And in this connection the police found in Mrs. Judd's apartment the following letter, apparently written by her husband, Dr. Judd, from Los Angeles on Sept. 15.

"I don't want to write a letter to lie around for Sammie and Mrs. Leroi to read. I had supposed you thought so much of those two girls that you would be perfectly happy with them, but if you are not it puts a different face on matters. I am not at all surprised at what you tell me."

Dr. Judd's explanation of what he meant in that letter will be one of the matters investigated in uncovering the motive for the weird crime.

SHERWOOD FIRM IN REFUSAL TO TAKE SUBPOENA

mittee to command his presence for questioning and said he planned to remain in Mexico indefinitely.

Threats Made

It was understood Sherwood had sought legal advice concerning reports that efforts would be made in New York to attach his property and to fine him $100,000, but that he contemplated no action until definite legal steps had been taken against him.

The subpoena of the New York investigating committee was handed to Sherwood by Sydney Handler, who came here with Phillip Haberman, both representing Samuel Seabury, the committee's legal counsel.

Sherwood handed the subpoena to his attorney, Burton W. Wilson of New York, who handed it back to Handler with the explanation there was "grave doubt concerning the legality or regularity" of the proceedings.

Handler also offered Sherwood money to pay his traveling expenses to New York, but Sherwood refused it.

for the start of the trip this evening.

Officers and members of the Zeppelin's crew and the ground crew were ordered to be at their posts at the "zero hour". The actual takeoff will be sometime after 4:30 o'clock, it was said.

The ship will head directly east and probably will reach Lakehurst late tomorrow afternoon, making the air voyage at a moderate speed.

Route Mapped.

A tentative route for the journey, subject to change when the wind velocity and direction is determined, calls for the airship to pass over Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York City enroute to the New Jersey dock. Officials here said the dirigible probably will be in the vicinity of Washington at sunrise tomorrow.

In addition to the officers and crew, the ship will carry a few officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation, builders of the craft, as passengers.

Deaths of the Day

Angelo Colia.

Angelo Colia, age 4 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Colia, of 204 South First street, died this morning after a short illness.

The deceased child is survived by his parents, two brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will take place on Thursday at St. Lucy's church, with Rev. Fr. S. Ippolito in charge. Interment in St. Lucy's cemetery.

Joseph Bestler

Joseph Bestler, resident of this city for the past eight or ten years, and one of the older and better known men of this part of the state, died Monday night about 11:30 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. James Shaw, 1102 East Washington street, following a brief illness.

Mr. Beslter was born in New Byron, Germany, October 16, 1637 and was 94 years of age. He had spent the most of his long and active life in this country and in Butler county where he had resided since coming to America, except for the past few years spent here.

He was better known as Uncle Joe in Slippery Rock, Pa. and the surrounding district and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He was for many years engaged in furniture and undertaking business at Slippery Rock in the firm of Uber and Bestler. He retired from business about thirty years ago.

Mr. Bestler was a member of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church and was the last surviving member of the church, who signed the charter of the church in 1884. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jas. Shaw of East Washington street, with whom he made his home and Mrs. S. C. Christley of Butler.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, October 22, 1931, at 2 p. m. at the late residence, 1102 East Washington street, these services to be followed by other services to be held at 3:30 p. m. in the Slippery Rock, Pa. Presbyterian church, with Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church and Rev. C. Down of Petrolia, Pa., in charge. Interment will be made in the Slippery Rock cemetery.

John Lytle

John Lytle, aged about 60, of Philadelphia, died at his room, No. 12, South Mercer street, last night. Mr. Lytle was a traveling salesman for a plumbing firm, and had made his headquarters in New Castle while working this district. He had complained to friends that his heart was giving him some trouble, and it is believed that this was the cause of his death. He is survived by his wife. Funeral notice later.

David W. Brest.

David W. Brest, aged 85, one of the few remaining survivors of the Civil War, died at 2:10 a. m., Wednesday, October 21, 1931 at his home, 1109 South Jefferson street, as a result of injuries sustained about 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, October 20, 1931 in a fall downstairs in his home. His death occurred about seven hours after the unfortunate accident.

Mr. Brest was born in Plaingrove, Lawrence County, March 30, 1846, the son of David and Catherine Brest and had been a resident of Lawrence county all his life.

He resided in North Beaver township for thirty-six years and was a farmer by occupation, prior to his retirement a number of years ago. He had been a resident of New Castle for the past three years. He was a member of the Moravia Presbyterian church.

Mr. Brest was a veteran of the Civil War, serving during that memorable conflict with Companys D and E, 57th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

He was married twice, his first wife, Caroline Brest, preceding him in death in 1892. He was married to his second wife, Cecelia Vorus Brest, who survives him, thirty-eight years ago.

Besides his wife, he leaves the following children by his first wife, Mrs. Thomas Williams, Mrs. William Sleight and William W. Brest, and by the second wife, James A. and David A. Brest, all of New Castle, also ten grandchildren and six great grandchildren, the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Martha Soliday and Mrs. John Martin of Greenville, Pa., Wilmer W. Brest of Sandy Lake, Henry Brest of Mercer, and James M. Brest of Monterey Park, California, a number of nieces and nephews residing in Lawrence and Mercer counties and the following step children, Mrs. John Stallsmith of Cochranton, Mrs John Brest of Moravia and Mrs. Edward Hutnik of New Castle.

Funeral services will be held Friday, October 23, 1931 at the residence 1109 South Jefferson street, with his pastor, Rev. T. C. Henderson in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Powell's Funeral

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Anna B. Powell were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late residence 1007 North Jefferson St., with Dr. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church in charge. The services were attended by many sorrowing friends and relatives. Selections were rendered during the services by Mrs. W. G. Ayers and Mrs. Thomas Myers. The selections rendered were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The pallbearers were Joseph Smith, Wm. Powell Harry Shepard, Forrester Powell, W. G. Ayers and Cal Powell. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN WEIRD CRIME NOT IN CUSTODY

murder was inspired by jealousy which developed between three women who were inordinately fond of each other."

Mrs. Judd, tubercular, and wife of Dr. William C. Judd, now of Santa Monica, Calif., was admitted by Judd today to have been taking veronal, a sleep-inducing drug.

Miss Samuelson, also tubercular, was a sufferer from a malady that made her mentally feverish.

Grilling Husband

What Dr. Judd may know about the possibility of a drug motive was to be sought today in a new grilling of Judd and of Burton J. McKinnell, young college student brother of Mrs. Judd.

These men were the only suspects police were able to take into custody. Yet today they were free, for Los Angeles authorities admitted they could not pin a single bit of evidence to them.

However County Attorney Lloyd Andrews of Maricopa county, Ariz., arrived here last night from Phoenix, and declared he would re-question Dr. Judd and McKinnell.

His purpose, Andrews said, was to penetrate the perplexing silence and alleged evasions with which Judd and McKinnell shrouded their asserted knowledge of the background of the crime which was committed, it is now believed about 10 o'clock Friday night.

Says Woman Insane

Judd told police he had taken treatments for morphine addiction. McKinnell, after at first declaring he was at a loss to account for his sister's mad act in trying to get him to help her dispose of the trunks and bodies, came out boldly today in an effort to establish that Mrs. Judd is insane.

Meanwhile from Phoenix, came new details of the "hospital intrigue" of the three flirtatious and unattached women, which made more ghastly than ever, the amazing crime chronicle.

Miss Samuelson, red-headed invalid, given to moods of exaltation and fear, was popular with the men as well as the apparent object of her two chums interest.

She had been showered with gifts of exotic perfumes, flowers, books, candies and silken underwear, it was related by a woman acquaintance, police said.

Miss Leroi was more robust as becomes a graduate nurse and almost mannish in her simple tastes.

In the effects of the two women were found many photographs showing the two girls in the affectionate embrace of "boy friends".

Mrs. Judd, also was given to flirtations, it was said. Two nights before she assertedly killed her strangely assorted girl pals, Mrs. Judd was described by neighbors as "frolicking" in the patio of her apartment home with a mysterious man visitor, while the other women and several other men were "carrying on" indoors."

However the theory of love and jealousy as the murder motive was based on a different theme, according to Phoenix officers.

Hunt Accomplice.

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Police held a growing belief today that Mrs. Ruth Judd, 27, had an accomplice in murdering two women friends in Phoenix, Ariz., and shipping their hacked bodies here in two trunks.

Mrs. Anna Evans, a nurse and friend of the widely hunted suspect, told Los Angeles police Mrs. Judd was physically unable to perform the crime without assistance. Mrs. Evans also doubted that Mrs. Judd would have sufficient presence of mind to pack the bodies in baggage.

An opinion that jealousy of a psychopathic nature prompted the killings was publicly expressed by police, they believe Mrs. Judd may have been aided by a narcotic addict with hospital experience.

REPORT YORKTOWN STAMP SALE HEAVY

Post office authorities here reported today that the special Yorktown commemorative stamp, issued to mark the 150th anniversary of Cornwallis' historic surrender to Washington, proved the most popular commemorative stamp yet sold.

The attractive issue, the size of a special delivery stamp, bears portraits of the three generals, Washington, Rochambeau and DeGrasse. Five thousand were supplied the local office.

BURY EDISON THIS AFTERNOON

laboratories late yesterday to view the body.

They all went in and passed slowly by the bier. All but Henry Ford. He stood just outside the inner door. He would not view his old crony. He did not know this cold form that rested so still in the coffin in that room. He did not want to know it.

"You remember the last time I saw him in the library," he said to Charles Edison. "How we talked together. Well, I want to keep that as the last thing in my memory."

These are here. Others will arrive up to noon today. Every train will bring its load of celebrities, every motor road leading from the four points of the compass into this little town of hill and valley to pay their last tribute to the great inventor.

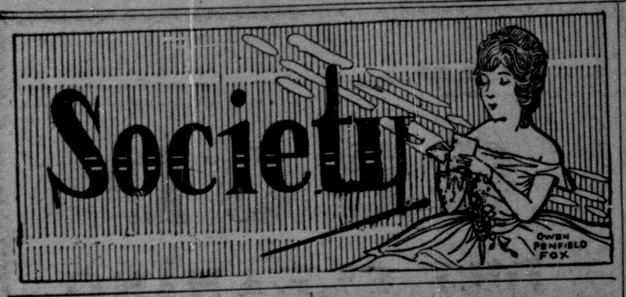

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the president of the United States, will reach here at 1:45 this afternoon. She will arrive at the Pennsylvania station at Newark from Washington at 1:08 and will be escorted to West Orange by a motorcycle escort of fifteen men. These will be part of the fifty additional men which will be thrown in cordon by Chief McRell of the Newark police.

The funeral services will be simple and short. They will not occupy more than an hour. Then the vast crowds, admitted to Llewelyn Park by pass will melt silently away. There will be a brief period in which the great inventor's family will take leave of their dead, alone and in seclusion. Then the body will be taken to Rosedale and burial.

More than $9,000,000 is to be spent on harbor development at Canton, China.

DINNER PARTY HONORS BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

An enjoyable social event of Tuesday from 4 to 7 o'clock was the dinner party given in honor of Doris Jean Leddy at her home, 135 Sheridan avenue as a means of celebration of her ninth birthday anniversary.

The social period was spent informally with games, music and contests of various kinds, and at an appropriate time, the guests were given their places at a large table beautifully decorated in keeping with the occasion, suggesting the Hallowe'en holiday, where they were served a full course menu. Favors were found at each place, and other novelties which added to the enjoyment of the affair.

The guest list included Ora Jane Snyder, Ruth Peterson, Martha Brundage, Marilyn Pearce, Betty Brown, Ruth Landis, Elaine Keefer, Kathryn Hornung, Helen Edgar, Edith Cavill, James and Edwin Hewitt, Donald Moore, Robert Burkley and Lois and Doris Leddy.

The guest of honor was the recipient of a collection of lovely gifts in memento of the day.

MRS. JOHN STREATOR HONORED AT PARTY

As a courtesy to Mrs. John Streator of Mills Way who will move Friday to Pittsburgh to live, Mrs. Bert Parker, Mrs. Louis Dean and Miss Della Absalom entertained at a party in the home of Mrs. Parker Monday evening, members of the Tuesday Bridge Club and the F. T. A. Club.

Cards formed the main pastime and prizes were won by Mrs. Norman Keefer and Mrs. John Streator.

When the evening was at its height, the honored guest was presented with a gorgeous gift in behalf of those assembled there, in the esteem of which she is held.

The serving of a dainty collation by the hostesses brought the evening to a close.

MRS. M. STEINFELD WILL GIVE ADDRESS

Due to the extreme prominence of Mrs. Maurice Steinfeld of St. Louis, Mo., president of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, the meeting scheduled this evening to be held in Temple Israel at 8 o'clock, will be open to the public. Mrs. Steinfeld will speak from the pulpit, and she will have an intensely interesting message.

Preceding this feature, a dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in her honor at the Temple under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Cukerbaum.

Entertain Guests

A tureen dinner was enjoyed at 6:30 last evening by the Women's Relief Corp No. II. The dinner was given at the City building in honor of the department officers.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Mabel Mohr, of Oil City, the department councillor; Mrs. Gladys Everett, of Albion, the department inspector; and Miss Minnie Holyworth, of Oil City.

The success of Tuesday evening's affair was largely due to the work of a committee consisting of Mrs. Ethel Thomas, Mrs. Margaret Hammond, Mrs. Mary Patterson, Mrs. Mary Loy, Mrs. Edith Hahn, Mrs. Marion McClintock and Mrs. Blanch Boston.

Mrs. Florence Gillispie, president, was in charge of the regular business meeting.

The guests were escorted to the hall by the conductors, Mrs. McClintock and Mrs. Marie Fout, accompanied by the color guards. The rituals were presented by the corps.

Plans for a card party were made. The party will take place November 3 at the City building. Mrs. Florence Gillispie is chairlady, with Miss Anna Patterson, Mrs. Carie Klingensmith, Mrs. Sara Campbell, and Mrs. Alice Taylor on the committee. Play will commence at 8:15.

Jollikousins Club.

Mrs. Goldie Reardon of North Mill street entertained the Jollikousins club Tuesday evening in her home. All members were present, and the hours were spent in games and contests. Prizes were won by Mrs. Florence DePuy and Mrs. Letha Bishop. Later, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Helen Gribble and Geraldine McClelland.

Plans were completed for a masquerade party to be held on October 30 at Rock Springs. Husbands and friends of the members will be special guests on this occasion. Mrs. Bertha Miller has been admitted into the club as a new member.

Their next regular meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Twila Miller on Vine street.

Pittsburgh Club Notes

The Pittsburgh club met with Mrs. Thomas Cowles on East North street Tuesday evening, when they entertained a number of friends. The usual business routine was carried out, and following, contests in 500 and bingo were in progress.

Prizes were won by Mrs. William Ousled, Mrs. Mary Calvert, Thomas Cowles, Robert Jones, A. L. Conn and Mrs. Mary Hoyle, the latter two being bingo awards. The special prize went to Mrs. Minnie Kaufman.

Lunch was later served to 55 guests at the small tables.

It was decided to meet again at Mrs. Cowles on Monday evening of the coming week, which will also be open to friends.

1931 Bridge Club

Mrs. Iva Jones of Wilmington avenue extended hospitality to the 1931 Bridge Club members in her home Thursday afternoon, with all being present. After a social period spent with cards, prizes were given to Mrs. Flossie Wilson and Mrs. Anna Matheson for honors.

At a suitable time, a very dainty repast was served by the hostess. Fall flowers were used throughout in the rooms.

In two weeks, Mrs. E. L. Young, East Washington street will be hostess at her home.

AUXILIARY MEETS WITH MRS. CRAIG

Mrs. Ralph Craig of Fairfield avenue pleasantly entertained over a half hundred members of the Queen Esther auxiliary of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening.

After a business meeting, devotionals by Mrs. Robert Meermans and a book review by Miss Alma Locke, a very pretty piano solo was rendered by Miss Mary Elizabeth Norris.

Donations for the Jameson Memorial hospital were also taken last evening.

Special guests of the occasion were Miss Norris, Mrs. Ross Waddle of Sheakleyville and Mrs. Charles F. Watkins.

Mrs. Daniel Carroll was admitted as a new member.

Delicious refreshments were served later in the evening by the hostess and her associates, Mrs. Vennor Bright, Mrs. Carl Paisley, Mrs. Richard Steen, Miss Katharine Wirsing, Miss Nettie Clarke, Mrs. R. L. Meermans and Mrs. Leon Fink.

The Craig home was beautifully decorated and lighted with pumpkin covered globes. The lighted pumpkins presented a novel and very pretty sight.

G. A. R. Ladies Meet.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. met Tuesday afternoon in the city building at 2 o'clock. The regular routine of business was transacted and it was announced that Inspector Mrs. Iona Dills of Sharon would inspect this local circle on Tuesday, November 3, at 2 o'clock.

Contributions of jellies, fruits, etc., were collected for the Hawkins Home of the G. A. R. for their harvest dinner which will be held on October 29. Several of the local ladies will attend this event. The menu will be served from 11 to 2 o'clock.

A quilt has been placed in the home of Mrs. Matthew Tripp on Highland avenue and ladies of the G. A. R. and friends are invited to drop in any time and quilt.

Surprise Party

Mrs. Charles Longacre of Lathrop street entertained at a surprise party in her home Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband. The guest list included, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wardman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hausler, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brundage and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gardner.

Cards formed the main pastime, and prizes were won by Mrs. Hausler and Mr. Gardner at the close of play. At a late hour, lunch was served by the hostess, at the individual tables.

The honored guest was presented with a number of handsome gifts in memento of the day.

Methodist Society

The Woman's Home Missionary society of First Methodist church met Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The president, Mrs. J. C. Miner, presided throughout the meeting.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was devotionals by Mrs. W. R. Wallace on the subject of "Prayer." She stated that "the prayer of faith is the most vital need of the world today and that prayer is not merely asking for things but a communion with God."

Mrs. Carl S. Hart, conference executive secretary, told of what becomes of the thank offerings. These facts were most interesting to the group of listeners.

M. J. Young Honored

Honoring M. J. Young, a group of 35 relatives gathered in his home on Forest street recently in surprise fashion, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Cards and chat were pastimes, and following the entertainment, a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. M. J. Young, Mrs. Walter Knobloch, Mrs. Margaret Keller, Mrs. E. B. Ray, Mrs. Lillian Sumner and Mrs. Marie Young.

A collection of gifts was presented the honored guest at an appropriate time, in behalf of those gathered.

R-Nu Club.

The R-Nu club members were guests of Frances Cwynar on Wilder avenue Tuesday evening. Business matters were transacted and following a social time was enjoyed with music and chat as pastimes. After a dainty lunch had been served, the guests left for home. On November 3 Josephine Rzepka of Ashland avenue will be hostess.

As a special guest the members had Mary Baka.

Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Julia Mills, Butler road, entertained a group of twenty guests Tuesday in honor of the fifth birthday of her son Harold. Games, music and other pastimes were enjoyed, and at a suitable time, the hostess, assisted by her son James and daughter Charlotte served a tempting collation.

The honored one received a number of handsome gifts in memory of the affair.

Nichols-Wright Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nichols of Grimes street, announce the marriage of their daughter Nancy to Harry I. Wright Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wright Sr. of this city. The ceremony was performed in Mercer on Friday, October 9 with the Rev. W. J. Small, Methodist pastor officiating.

For the present, the newlyweds will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

Maxwell Circle

Eighteen members of the Maxwell Circle met last evening with Mrs. Mary Shaffer on Meyer avenue. The evening was greatly enjoyed with a devotional period followed by a social time.

The first chapter of the book, "Christ Comes to the Village" was read and studied.

The next meeting will be with Miss Hazel Armstrong, November 23.

Pythian Sisters

Mrs. Flora Sowash, of 609 Spruce street, entertained the Past Chiefs Pythian Sisters at her home last evening, with Mrs. Clara Rice, associate hostess.

Plans for a tureen dinner on Friday at the home of Mrs. Sara Parshall, West Middlesex, were made.

A light lunch was served by the hostesses and Mrs. Sowash's daughter later in the evening, with places set for about twenty.

LUNCHEON FEATURES BRIDGE CLUB MEETING

The Tuesday Bridge Club members were guests of Mrs. Elsie Nessle on Pine street Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. A bouquet of fall flowers graced the center of the table where a delicious menu was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Richard Allen.

Following, tables of cards occupied the attention of the guests, and prizes for scores were won by Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mrs. George Moser.

They adjourned to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. A. C. Miller on Sumner avenue.

CIRCLE PRESENTS PROGRAM AT CHURCH

Forty-one members of the M. C. Circle of the Third United Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening at the church and enjoyed a very delightful program.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Arthur Minick and included a solo by Mary Lewis, accompanied by John O'Neil; a playlet by Mrs. Roy McCown's Sunday school class; a duet by Mrs. Clare Lutz and Mrs. W. F. Shoenfelt, accompanied by Mrs. J. Brown.

Mrs. Robert Benson read a report of a recent convention, prepared by Mrs. Manley Bates. Mrs. Orr gave another convention report.

Three new members were taken into the organization—Mrs. Margaret Ifft, Mrs. Anna Kildoo and Mrs. Mary Caldwell. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. S. B. Copeland, Mrs. A. B. Coulter and Mrs. J. M. Eagleson

Hostesses at the next monthly meeting will be Mrs. Robert Benson, Mrs. Harry Campbell and Mrs. Aiken.

MASQUERADE IS ENJOYED BY CLASS

Hardly recognizable in their grotesque and humorous costumes, the members of the Mizpah class of the Third United Presbyterian church assembled at the home of Mrs. George Ramsey, 222 Mulberry street Tuesday evening.

The Ramsey home was beautifully decorated and the Hallowe'en idea was carried out.

Mrs. Howard Magill gave a reading. Mrs. E. H. McNees rendered a solo, accompanied by Miss Christine Butler. After this very enjoyable program the balance of the evening was spent with games and stunts.

In serving a tasty lunch the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Clyde Anderson, Mrs. Charles Gray and Miss Bessie Durant. The appointments were carried out with Hallowe'en colors—yellow and black.

BLIND DEPARTMENT COMMITTEE MEETING

An important committee meeting of the blind department of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. building.

It is desired that a representative from each club will be present to get a report of the items discussed to take back to their associates regarding this worthy work.

Mothers' Class.

The Mothers' class of the Primitive Methodist church was entertained Tuesday evening by Mrs. George Smith, at her home on Dushane street. Mrs. Mary Lewis was associate hostess.

Twenty-six were present to enjoy the business meeting, followed by a splendid program in charge of Mrs. William Mockel. Mrs. Charles Ashton gave a reading; Mrs. Mary Lewis gave some Bible questions; and several delightful speeches and songs were rendered by Mrs. Smith's daughters, Nancy and Patty Jean Smith.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Grace Lewis. Colors were orange shades and black.

Mrs. I. W. Tate, of Fairmont avenue, will be hostess to the class on Tuesday, November 10, with Mrs. E. E. Hoyland, associate.

Entertains At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cannon, of Adams street, entertained informally at a dinner party in their home Monday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cummings, a bride and groom of recent date. A delicious menu was served at a table nicely appointed where covers marked for 14 guests.

The balance of the evening was spent with cards, music and chat.

Take Part In Recital

The following local folks participated in a recital given Tuesday evening at Greenville High School. Marian Shaffer, Tootsie Mangiern, Velma Sonntag, Dorothy Jackson, Dorothy Baldwin, Rodney Williams, Edna Mae Shaffer, Ruth Olive Gething, Virginia Gething and Ruth and Jean Williams, the latter two who are from Hubbard, O.

Masquerade Party.

The Agnes Schaade Missionary society of the St. Paul's Lutheran church will frolic Thursday evening in the vacant house on the church property, North Jefferson street.

The party will be in the form of a Hallowe'en masquerade and the committee promises a "mysterious" evening.

Society Playlet.

The Katherine Von Bora Missionary society of the St. John's Lutheran church will entertain its members and friends Thursday evening with a playlet of missionary value in the church auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Agenda Club Party

Members of the Agenda club have all plans completed for an unusually interesting Hallowe'en party to be given on Thursday, October 29 in the auditorium of Temple Israel.

To Theta Nu Club Members

On October 29, the Theta Nu club members will be entertained at a masquerade party at home of Mrs. John Whitman on Pollock avenue.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON HEARS SPLENDID TALK

Mrs. H. G. Horton proved herself a most charming hostess Tuesday afternoon when she entertained associates of the Tuesday Kensington at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon in a local tea room. Covers, making for 19 guests, were nicely arranged, and tones of the season were used throughout in the decorations.

After the serving of a delicious menu, Mrs. Clarence Wetzel, who with her husband, is stationed at Punjab, India, on business interests for an indefinite period of time, gave a splendid talk on the customs, living, etc., of the people of India that proved highly interesting as well as entertaining. Mrs. Wetzel is the house guest of Mrs. Paul D. Weller, Clenmore boulevard, and she was a special visitor at this meeting.

During the business transactions, Mrs. William Eakin and Mrs. Thurman Post were admitted into the Kensington as new members.

Announcement of the next regular session will be announced later.

The 1929 Five Hundred Club members met with Mrs. Carl Wallace on Martin street Tuesday evening for their regular session, with Mrs. Frank W. Hill and Elsie Benson as special guests. Cards formed the chief pastime, and four prizes including the ones holding high honors and a consolation award were given to Henrietta Bishop, Mrs. R. L. LeMaster, Mrs. J. F. Titus and Irene Perry.

lation award were given to Henrietta Bishop, Mrs. R. L. LeMaster, Mrs. J. F. Titus and Irene Perry.

At a selected hour, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Titus and Mrs. Hill. The menu and table decorations were carried out completely in pink and white tones.

Plans were made for a tureen dinner to be held on November 3, at the home of Mrs. J. F. Titus on Edison avenue, which will mark their next regular session.

Fuller Circle

The Fuller Missionary Circle of the Croton M. E. church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Amelia Buxton, Dewey avenue. There was fifteen members present and Betty Joshua was a special guest.

Miss Leona Nolan, president, was in charge of the meeting. Business of importance was discussed. Plans were made for an "Indian Pow-wow" to be held in December. Various committees were appointed at this time.

The missionary lesson was given by Miss Ruth McCoy, Mrs. F. Sizer and Mrs. E. Millison, and was very interesting.

Later a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Mary Nunn and Betty Joshua.

B. N. W. Bridge Club.

The B. N. W. Bridge club met in regular session last evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Burrows on Morton street. Cards formed the diversion and trophies for honors were won by Mrs. Earl White, Mrs. O. M. Bilger and Mrs. John Meyer.

Lunch was later served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter. Tones of the season predominated in the appointments.

In three weeks Mrs. Ray Samuels of Fairmont avenue will entertain the club.

Boy Scout News

BENSON HERE TODAY

Scout Executive Andrew T. Benson, head of the Boy Scout's Allegheny council county, arrived here this morning to speak before the Community Chest workers in their noon rally downtown. He will be the guest of H. G. Horton, local executive.

HIGHLANDERS GATHER

Scoutmaster Wallace Mott was in charge of last night's regular meeting of Highland troop 18 boys, held in the church. Assisting him was Assistant Scoutmaster Thomas Smathers.

A talk by James P. Merrilees, local contractor, on rope splicing featured the program part of the meeting. His message was enjoyed by 16 boys who were in attendance. Two visitors from troop 15, Ted Ray and Ralph Davies, were present to receive instructions in their pioneering merit badge work. Rope splicing is a part of that test.

Troop Committeeman J. S. Martin and Scout Commissioner R. F. Davis were in attendance.

MEETING IN HOME

Deputy commissioners of the local council will convene for an important meeting in Scout Commissioner R. F. Davis' home, Norwood avenue, on Monday, October 26, at 8 p. m. Winter plans for county troops are to be mapped.

SIN MAR BRIDGE MEMBERS ENTERTAIN

The Sin Mar Bridge club members entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Grace Sankey, Meyer avenue. All members were present and one guest, Mrs. Ned Chapman. After the card contest, the prize for high honors was given to Ada Miller.

Later, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Helen Sankey. Orange and black tones were used in the menu and table appointments.

On Wednesday, October 28, the club will entertain at the home of Mabel Campbell, Moody avenue.

CLASS ENTERTAINS AT MASKED PARTY

Mrs. W. T. Burns class entertained members of the Married Peoples Bible Class of the Second U. P. church at a masked party Tuesday evening in the church dining room.

The room was beautiful with autumn leaves pumpkins black cats, witches etc,, and a realistic bonfire, adding to the enjoyment of the affair. The lights were subdued with orange shades decorated in the same manner, and a feature, was the greetings extended by a ghost at the door.

An Indian war dance, with all guests joining hands formed the first activities on the program, circling about the "make-believe" bon fire, with Jane Bryan at the piano. A grand march followed, and judges Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burns and Mrs. O. L. Thompson awarded prizes to Mrs. Marion Hill of Cleveland, O., a special guest, Mrs. John Syling for having the most original and funniest costumes.

After unmasking, the guests were given cards cut in half to be matched and on these, directions were found for making and pulling of taffy. The men garbed in aprons, served as assigned, the refreshments at an appropriate time.

The committee in charge were responsible for the complete success of the affair, namely, Mrs. J. Elder Bryan, chairlady, Mrs. Richard Hill, Mrs. R. Warnock, Mrs. F. E. Weir, Mrs. Carl Kildoo and Mrs. A. J. Tidball.

F. T. A. Members Meet

A delightful meeting of the F. T. A. Club members was an event of last evening when Mrs. John Streator entertained at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. V. Dean, East Washington street at their regular social session.

A period of cards occupied the attention of the guests, and after play, prizes were presented to Della Absalom and Mrs. Bert Parker for winning honors. The latter assisted the hostess in serving a most delicious lunch at the small tables, which were prettily re-arranged for this purpose.

In two weeks, Mrs. Harold Wharton of Laurel avenue will be club hostess.

We-Hava Club.

Mrs. Jess Forrest of the Youngstown road pleasingly received the We-Hava club members in her home Tuesday evening, having chat, music and 500 as pastimes. At the close of the card contest lovely tokens were given to Mrs. David Rowland and Mrs. Percy White for honors.

A brief session was held. Later a tempting lunch was served by the hostess and her aide, Mrs. Allan Pattison. Hallowe'en appointments prevailed throughout.

Mrs. Clarence Bixler of East Washington street will be club hostess in two weeks at her home.

Section Masque.

Section B of the Y. L. B. class will entertain its members Thursday evening with a masquerade party in the home of Mrs. Jesse Dufford, Huron avenue.

HAMILTON STREET BOYS ARE MISSING

It was reported by the father of Wayne Melvin Shotzberger, aged 15, of 1714 Hamilton street, last night that his son and a boy named Trosky had left home and could not be located. East Side Union.

The East Side W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Rhoda Dumbaugh Monday evening on the Butler road. Mrs. Edith Wiles led the devotional period.

The business meeting followed with the president, Mrs. Kildoo, presiding. Reports from various committees included the following donations in the last month: Ten sick calls, three bouquets, one bundle clothing, $8, 15 gallons apple butter, seven quarts fruit and basket of grocereis.

Two new members, Mrs. Lulu Kocher and Mrs. W. E. McMillan, were welcomed into the union. Eighteen members and the following guests were present: Mrs. Merle Allen, Mrs. M. R. Bates, Mrs. J. D. Hemminger, Loraine Hook and Charlene Bates.

After the business transactions, a play was given entitled "Mrs. Smith Learns the Truth" with the Mesdames Kildoo, Cox, Benson, Hook and the Misses Piatt, Bates and Hook taking parts. Mrs. Merle Allen then gave an interesting report of the 57th annual state W. C. T. U. convention held at Johnstown.

The next meeting will be held on November 16 at the home of Mrs. A. B. McCown, Maryland avenue, with Mrs. Young being appointed program chairman.

AL CAPONE AND THE NEWSPAPERS

THE press militant may claim some fruits of victory in Al Capone's conviction. He thrived on a form of criminal business to which publicity was fatal. It was newspaper exposure that finally goaded the forces of justice into action against him. When he was arrested in Philadelphia for carrying concealed weapons he might have escaped with a fine if he had been an ordinary stranger who thus fell afoul of the police. But, thanks to the press, his notoriety had preceded him here, and he received the maximum jail sentence.

For the last few years Capone has been a hunted rat, because the newspapers openly linked his name with an organization which the servants of law and order were afraid to touch. The newspapers threw aside the customary reserve when they called him a criminal before the fact was judicially established. They have been real tribunes of the Nation in wrenching the sinister arm from protecting him. To him cowardly mercantile interests paid the assessments of the archracketeer; with him grafting politicians have shared the spoils of booty; for him sycophantic lawyers have devised every conceivable escape from the punishment he richly deserves.

The press has so often been accused of presenting crime attractively, in a way to inspire imitators, that the Capone affair is hailed for the abundant refutation it affords. The newspapers did not make Capone; they have unmade him.

WEATHER COWARDS?

Dwellers in the temperate zone talk enthusiastically of the benefits of climatic variety. They are convinced that, compared with the people to the north and to the south of them, they live longer, get more out of life, accomplish more with less effort, have a higher civilization and are more progressive. And they give all the credit to the cycle of seasons.

They tell themselves this and they employe it effectively in their booster propaganda. Moreover, there is some foundation for the belief. But for every ten thousand adults that preach the doctrine of climatic temperance only one really practices it.

What happens with the first cold blast of winter? The adult population hibernates. Men and women who led active outdoor lives from early spring until late fall imprison themselves in tightly closed buildings, except when riding abroad in automobiles just as tightly closed. Tired business men, who in warm weather are to be found on the golf links, are to be found in cold weather lounging with overstuffed stomachs in overstuffed chairs in stuffy offices, clubs and homes. As for adults of the other sex their cold weather hibernation is not less absolute.

Adult America can learn a valuable lesson from young America. Youth strikes boldly out into the snow and cold and returns glowing with good health and charged with new energy. Adults, fearful of chills and frost-bite, spend indoors all the health and energy accumulated in the preceding three seasons of healthful outdoor life. Those bigger than weather are bigger and better for it.

THE VALUE OF RESEARCH

Seventeen million telephones, 45,000,000 miles of wire, 6,000 telephone offices, 70,000,000 wire-conversations a day, local calls completed in less than half a minute—impressive as these telephone statistics are, they scarcely explain why telephone service in this country is without parallel.

One lifts a receiver from its hook. Something happens immediately. Every telephone on the continent can be connected with that in your office or house in ways and for technical reasons still mysterious to most people.

That black instrument through which one can converse with the antipodes is the offspring of ninety types of transmitter and more than sixty types of receiver, historic curiosities. If that instrument could tell its story, it would be a story of research applied in creating thousands of parts concealed in switchboards and buried in conduits.

Research in laboratories of telephone companies, manufacturers of electrical supplies and inventors has discovered ways to save telephone companies $1,000,000 a year by prolonging the life of "repeaters," to save $750,000 a year in lightning protectors, to save $8,000,000 a year by improving a switchboard part, to save $50,000 a year by using a new type of wire. Research made possible transcontinental telephone conversation that can be understood and telephone service that is reliable and rapid.

It is research of this character that has made it possible for the telephone to grow stupendously. Without research, which foresees obstacles and problems years before they are encountered, the modern telephone system would still be a romantic dream.

COMPETITION

Believing the anti-trust laws and overproduction of natural resources responsible in part for the business depression and wave of unemployment, the United States Chamber of Commerce is about to questionnaire 900,000 business men on the following points: Shall a government tribunal be created with power to determine where there is overproduction of natural resources; to authorize agreements among producers to curtail such excessive output; to terminate such agreements when in its judgment the condition inspiring them ceases to exist, and to establish safeguards against monopolization or gouging.

Competition breeds overproduction not alone of natural resources but of manufactured products. It is one of the basic faults of the industrial system. Overproduction causes waste and is a potent cause of unemployment. Economists insist that elimination of needless waste is an essential step in stabilization of both business and employment.

Natural resources offer a good starting point for a search for the golden mean between ruinous overproduction and rapacious monopoly. But the search for remedial legislation should not stop there. There is hardly an industry or business in the United States which is not making an up-hill fight against competition; competition of the sort that results in wage-cutting and factory shut-downs.

It is not enough just to take a symposium of 900,000 business men. Every one of that 900,000 should make a careful study of the problem as it affects his own business before filling out his questionnaire. The survey will be useless unless it concentrates the business mind of the nation upon the questions involved.

What this well-known country needs is more golden wedding anniversaries.

It is sometimes hard to remember whether a film star is married again or still.

There Was One Who Laughed
Alexis the Warrior
I Hear Him Still

By MARSHAL MASLIN

Out of all the soldiers I knew in the war—and I knew farmer boys from Oklahoma, tough eggs from New York, aristocrats, peasants, black boys from Memphis, brown fellows from China, Portuguese, Italians, Canadians, Scots, Cockneys, Gascons, Gretons, Normans, Parisians, Alsatians, priests and doctors, dentists and school teachers, sailors and cattlemen, all jumbled together—out of all that I knew, I remember Alexis best.

You could hardly have called him a Noble Character. He was ignorant, he was coarse, he was foul. His idea of humor was low, indeed, his idea of the right way to live was to be drunk all the time. He ate his food like a hungry dog, he made life miserable for the gentler soldiers in his squad. He was a corporal in dirty blue uniform, and while I knew him I think he lost even his corporalcy. He was a most disreputable fellow, not a good example to anybody, and you wouldn't have liked him. I might not have liked him either, at any place but the front. He came up out of the markets of Paris and I suppose he went back there after the war. He is there now shouting and profane and full of wine—and LAUGHING!

That's why I remember Alexis. He was such a great LAUGHER. Sober or staggering, hungry or tired, Alexis laughed. . . Waiting to go over the line on a raid, huddled in a dugout during a bombardment, stuffing his belly or tightening his belt, Alexis laughed. . I search my memory and I can find no picture that does not show him laughing hugely. I see him with his great mouth open and his white teeth gleaming and the wrinkles around his eyes, and his black drooping moustache all soaked with wine—and I hear that giant, heart-strengthening laugh of Alexis. I see him tenderly helping a wounded man, I hear him cursing broadly, always I hear that jovial laugh. He had one favorite oath that is almost impossible to translate. Whatever happened he'd shout "BOUGREMENT! BOOO--GRE--MENN-N-T!"—and the shattered hills would echo with his mighty, wine-soaked laugh. Good old Alexis! who laughed in the snarling face of death.

He stood for bold and happy courage then—in the midst of war—and he stands for it still, in my memory, in my heart. And I wish I could hear, right this minute, that valiant laugh of Alexis—that happy warrior.

All these little points you have used time and again to prove that the course you follow is a good one.

But the real reason you have kept to yourself is that you do not intend to change your course but follow the line of least resistence.

Not even to prove yourself master of yourself would you deny yourself.

You know it is leading you to the point where you neglect your family.

It may carry you so far that you will give too little time to your business.

Isn't your lack of control sufficient to alarm you?

Are you not losing the sort of self command that an adult should have?

WORKING MEN

Back among the busy men, back among the worker!
Done with all the talkers big: done with all the shirkers;
Done with all the tinseled sham. Those gay days are over
When the poorest of the flock slept in beds of clover.

Worry didn't fret us much: danger seldom tried us!
Howsoe'er we blundered then, luck stayed right beside us.
Waste was seldom thought about: fields were richly seeded.
Fools were able high to rise when wisdom wasn't needed.
None wastes time to sharpen blades he no more is using.
None keeps training for the fight he has no fear of losing.
Pleasure, though we guessed it not, turned every muscle flabby,
And fortune's lack of problems grave let many minds grow shabby.

Done are all the sunny days: terrific storms beset us.
We have need of conquests now which only strength can get us.
Luck no longer dogs our heels: stark trouble floods the nation.
Life has called us back to work to find our own salvation.

A curious and practical citizen of a country town some time ago attached a slip of paper bearing his name and address to a dollar bill with the following request:

"Will everyone receiving this dollar make a notation of its use on the blank space below?"

Then he spent the dollar with a grocer.

In just ten days the dollar found itself back with the sender, and it bore notations showing that it had been spent five time for theaters, for cigarettes, three for salaries, three for ice cream, twice for men's furnishings, twice for haircuts, once for face powder, once for dog biscuits.

The dollar had been spent twenty-five times in ten days, but it never got into church. It started new and crisp and came back wrinkled and dejected.

Gandhi Receives Assurance Of Good American Welcome

Suggested Visit Arouses Discussion Of Probable Attitude Of Public, With Tendency To Assure Serious Consideration Of His Position

Discussions of the suggested visit of Mahatma Gandhi to the United States seem to assure him a friendly welcome although there are those who are unwilling to guarantee that the Hindu mystic will be taken as seriously as he himself might wish.

"We hope that Gandhi will visit the United States," says the DANBURY EVENING NEWS, which feels that "no people in the world are as capable of appreciating Gandhi as the Americans," and believes that "he would receive a welcome in the United States such as he deserves as savior of his country." The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL thinks "we are quite capable in America of making a hero of Mahatma Gandhi. In spite of our materialism, notwithstanding our absorption in the responsibilities of the moment, we continue to have a sentimental side and even a religious phase. We can be both practical and mystical," asserts this paper, which describes him as "one of the truly great of his day, the finder of magnificent truth, a choice human spirit, a fellowman and counsellor to whose voice we in hurly-burly America should be glad to listen as to the voice of one who has a genuine message for a distraught age."

We might even be too warm in our welcome, as the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN suggests, saying: "If the American people have a fault in their reception of foreign visitors it is that of hero worship, of over-lionizing the great of the world who come this way. But Gandhi may be assured that there will be no lack of respect for his personality and of sympathy with his message." As the SCRANTON TIMES expresses it, "We feel that the thinking American public, as differentiated from the mob, would receive him with the dignity and the courtesy which his position in world affairs deserves." However, "the Mahatma must remember that when he comes here he enters a high-pressure civilization, one altogether foreign to the quiet ways in which his life is couched," suggests the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, as it predicts that, if he comes, "it will seem bewildering and strange that vast crowds will line lower Broadway's canyons to give him a 'typical New York greeting', but that these people are vociferous does not mean that they are hostile or that they are disposed to consider the leader of 160,000,000 Indians a freak. They might, however, omit the ticker tape," concludes this paper.

Referring to Gandhi's reported statement that he would like to visit the United States if he was sure that the American people would take him seriously and not make fun of him, the CHARLESTON DAILY MAIL states: "There will be those who will take him seriously and those who will not. Some may question the wisdom of his methods and the real practicability of his aims. There is much in his appearance, in his manner of living, in his refusal 'when in Rome to do as Rome does' which tends to make him the fit subject of the jester," declares this journal, as it remarks that it is of the opinion "that not all jokes can be suppressed." In the words of the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, "it may or well be admitted that, because of his attire (or scarcity of attire) he appears to be somewhat of a freak," and this paper suggests that "perhaps in his own best interest, as a visitor to our shores, it could be suggested that he don the garb of the West."

Because of his eccentricities, "the American public would be on justifiable ground, except for the matter of taste, in the good-natured ridicule it would surely mete out to the Mahatma," asserts the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, which thinks "he will show another example of his quiet wisdom if he remains in England, where the fitness and the sincerity of his mission fall about him like a protecting cloak, instead of coming, like the white-washed Siamese elephant in Barnum's circus troupe, to the shores of America."

As the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) REPUBLICAN says: "The movies and countless newspaper illustrations have advertised his not fully understood eccentricity of dress or undress, and there is no doubt that curiosity of a not wholly complimentary sort would figure in his reception in this country if he should choose to come." But the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD asks a question of Americans, saying: "Would we, who have clapped our hands raw at all manner of home-produced humbug, and who have, perhaps as a result, made a sorry mess of our most important affairs, laugh at the sage of India because his pants were not tailored in Rochester? If we would, then Gandhi would perform a great service to the world by proving it," exclaims the Omaha paper.

While agreeing that, in this country, "there is a tendency to exploit, to misinterpret, to misunderstand and even to ridicule great men less subject to eccentricities of appearance than Gandhi," and that "men of note have always had to put up with this," and acknowledging that "many people would not understand the remarkable personality of Gandhi," the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION contends that "this should not keep him away from this country for there are countless others who respect, admire and understand him."

MY NEW YORK By JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—In the side streets entering Second avenue below 15th street, there are restaurants of a dozen nations. In one space of a hundred yards are to be found Italian, Jewish, Ukranian, Russian and Gypsy eating places. Food is exceedingly native and exceedingly cheap.

Tourists are frequently misled into thinking that astonishing bargains in cuisine are to be ferreted out in these low-priced cafes. There are no bargains in food, anywhere in the world, if my experience means anything. Good food is costly, whether prepared in the Bowery or in Park avenue

As a matter of fact, one of the most expensive places to eat in Manhattan is situated in a neighborhood of tenements. The five-course dinner I ate last night in 8th street was a bargain at 50c—but it would have been a gyp at 75c.

SECRETS OUT

The slow-motion picture camera has vastly complicated the work of football coaches throughout the country. Time was when scouts depended upon the eye to record the intricacies of high-speed trick plays. Now they needn't bother.

Not only do the standard newsreels show the most-involved and would-be baffling plays in clear detail, but in such a way that even a layman can understand.

The more progressive football scouts are now equipped with small hand movie cameras.

The result of all this has been a gradual discard of plays which depend for their effectiveness upon trickery alone. The coach of today rehearses his surprise play in strict secrecy—and when he has used it once he seldoms repeats.

Meanwhile several of the newsreels have obtained permanent records of the outstanding gridiron stars of the day—in action. Columbia Pictures is preparing a series to show Brill, Carido, Savoldi, of Notre Dame; Booth, of Yale; Moran, of Syracuse; Stecker, of Army; Bowstrom, of Navy; Russell, of Northwestern, and Stanczyk, of Columbia.

JUMP, SKIP AND HOP

There are few Japanese gardens in Manhattan, but the oriental section swarms with unemployed gardeners, all landscaping experts. . . . When a movie concern out on Long Island wanted a cherry blossom set, with rustic pools, goldfish and all the rest, they looked for gardeners and found them in droves. . . . Many have been forced to become laundrymen to live.

Ill Babies Will Be Excluded From Well Baby Clinics

Find Many Mothers Are Bringing Children To Clinics With Various Illnesses

Announcement was made this morning by Dr. H. C. Harper, county medical director, to the effect that babies which are ill will be excluded from the Well Baby clinics.

These clinics are designed for the purpose of helping mothers with health problems affecting their babies, and to recommend the correction of diet problems, etc.

It has been found of late that an increasing number of mothers have been bringing children to the clinics with colds and other ailments, and in many cases the infants are quite ill. The mothers expect the children to be treated at the clinic.

"This is not the purpose of the Well Baby Clinic and is not within the providence of the doctor in charge to treat these children. It is not fair to the well babies which are brought to the clinic to have them exposed to danger of transmission of diseases. Babies which are ill will be excluded from these clinics and mothers are asked to bear this in mind."

Mothers who bring their children to the clinic, not only expose other babies to the danger of becoming ill of the same ailment, but are apt to make their children worse by taking them out, it was pointed out.

Maybe it was Fate which had to stop the frenzied rush for wealth to avert the calamity of any man becoming a billionaire.—The Duluth Herald.

Organize For Hoover Plan

Western Pennsylvania Bankers To Aid In National Credit Plan

CLEARING HOUSE ACTION IS TAKEN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Formation of the Pittsburgh group of the National Credit Corporation was virtually complete today as member banks of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association made ready to support the $500,000,000 corporation formed at the suggestion of President Hoover to release "frozen assets" in the country's banks.

The local association, it was decided at a meeting of bankers, will include all territory allocated to the Pittsburgh branch of the fourth federal reserve district comprising western Pennsylvania and six counties in the West Virginia Panhandle district.

Representatives of all member banks and the Clearing House Association expressed their intention to subscribe for their quota of gold notes of the Credit Corporation. Subscriptions from the Pittsburgh district will total more than $10,000,000, it was expected.

Actual formation of the corporation and completion of the legal formalities are to be considered at another meeting of Pittsburgh district bankers within the next few days.

Hear Testimony On Petition For Bus Freight Line

State Commissioner Hears Protests On Application For Bus Line Here

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Additional testimony was taken today by Examiner W. E. Best of the Public Service Commission at the second hearing on the application of Harley S. Keis, of New Castle, for permission to operate a motor freight service between Pittsburgh and Sharpsville, Mercer county, by way of New Castle.

The application was opposed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, Railway Express Agency, Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The protestants claimed that service now provided was adequate to meet all demands. Keis asks to include the following communities on his route: Ambridge, Rochester, Beaver Falls, Monaca, New Brighton, Ellwood City, Middlesex, Wampum, New Castle, New Wilmington, Sharon, Farrell, Mercer and Sharpsville.

Keis at present is hauling merchandise for shippers in these cities under private contract, he testified, and asks permission to place his service on a scheduled basis. As a result of his previous hauling, the Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company has filed a protest with the commission alleging that Keis has been hauling between New Castle and Pittsburgh without a permit, in asserted violation of the rules of the commission. A hearing on this protest will be held later.

In his testimony today, Keis claimed he would be able to provide service late at night and at hours when present carriers do not maintain scheduled service. He refused to produce books and records of the company which would give the names of shippers in the Pittsburgh district who use his service at the present time.

Hon. Fred Fruit Tells Why Chest Is Worthwhile

Workers Are Told That Money Is Best Spent When It Is Well Spent

ANSWERS COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE CHEST

Hon. Fred T. Fruit of Sharon, who was chairman of the Community Chest drive in that city, which was successfully closed last week, gave a splendid talk at the report meeting held Tuesday noon in the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Fruit stated that the workers no doubt were forced to listen to innumerable complaints against the Community Chest in this city, just as they had to in Sharon. Many of these complaints are uttered, he stated, because the person complaining does not want to contribute and is seeking every possible loophole to escape.

"Some will assert that too much money is spent in maintaining the various organizations, but I want to tell you people that money is best spent when it is well spent," he said. "It is far cheaper in the long run to hire people who are skilled in raising money and administering it, than it is to pay for inferior help just to give someone a job.

"I'll venture to say that the various workers of your different agencies in the Community Chest are working fifty per cent harder this year than they did last, and they are getting no more money for it.

Tells Work Of Agencies

"You will hear the complaint that this ought to be a bread and butter campaign. That you ought to cut out the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Red Cross, and so forth.

Mr. Fruit illustrated the value of the Boy Scouts by telling of a youth in Sharon, who it was found, had no parents, and who in addition to take an active part in scouting activities, was selling papers and maintaining an old man with whom he lived. He told of how much easier it would have been for this youth to follow his own bent and to take to a life of crime.

He told on the other hand of a youth, who had run away from home, and who was found living in one of the hollows in Sharon, making his living by stealing from stores and ice boxes. He finally stole a bicycle to aid him in getting around to the places he was to rob, which proved his undoing.

"How much better it would have been had he been in an organization like the Boy Scouts, where he would have been given a higher ideal in life. Boiling it down to an economic basis, how much better off would the stores and home owners been to have contributed a little bit of money to have reached out to this boy, rather than have him steal from them.

Tell Story Of Institutions

Mr. Fruit defended the Red Cross, telling how much work the organization was doing in Sharon for the ex-service men, in addition to its many other activities. The sum of $1,800 a month is coming into the homes of disabled soldiers in Sharon each month, he explained, through the assistance of the Red Cross. You people no doubt have the same experience in this city. That relieves the Community Chest from that much of an obligation, or takes it off the county poor fund. "These men," he said, "are the ones you promised to support when they marched away to sacrifice themselves to protect you only a few years ago."

"When you are going out to raise this fund, you are not only setting out with the idea of getting in the money, but you are carrying the stewardship of the organization with you and telling the people what the institutions under the Chest are doing. You should go about it with a feeling of real spirit and helpfulness, and friendship."

In closing, Mr. Fruit recited a few lines from "The Vision of Sir Launfal," as follows:

"He who gives himself with his gift feeds three, Himself, his hungering neighbor and Me."

Short Autumn Trip Where Scenery Is Well Worth Seeing

Motorists Will Find Much Pleasure In Driving Over Route Indicated Below

At this season of the year when old Jack Frost is painting woodlands with various hues of crimson and gold, motorists are interested in sight seeing trips. For a maximum of pleasure with a minimum of mileage, there is said to be no trip which will compare with a drive south and southeast of the city.

Owing to the typograhpy of the land, which is composed of hills and hollows, the scenery along the route to be indicated, is at its best about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At this time of day the sun strikes the hills and valleys with a peculiarly pleasing effect

Here is the route: Drive down Mill street to Long Avenue, turn to the left at Long Avenue and take the first street to the right. This is Pennsylvania Avenue. Drive down through Clifton Flats, past the old Alborn mill site, under the overhead bridge of the Western Allegheny railroad, and thence South past Savannah church to the intersection of the Hog Hollow road.

Turn to the left at the Hog Hollow road, go up past the McKee school house and on till you strike the old Pittsburgh road, thence by the old Pittsburg road north until you strike the New Castle-Ellwood road.

There are many other beautiful drives in Lawrence county at this season of the year, particularly in the Slippery Rock district, around McConnell's and Kennedy's mills, but for a short trip the one outlined above cannot be beaten.

Phil Reep, '25 Sings At College Chapel Yesterday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 21—Phil Reep, a graduate of Westminster College in 1925 and now a radio singer for the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York, sang at the college chapel service at Westminster yesterday morning. Reep is spending a few days here visiting with old friends.

Reep was fullback on the 1924 Westminster football team which defeated Grove City 7-0. Reep intercepted a Grover forward pass in the fourth quarter and ran down the sidelines 80 yards for a touchdown. This victory over the Grovers was the last the Titans have won in seven seasons.

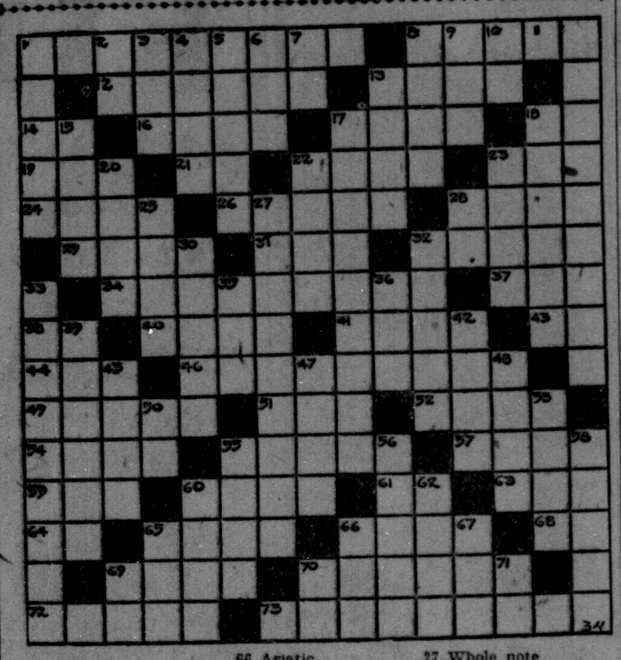

Reep was also active in musical organizations while in college, sang in the glee club and was a member of the varsity quartet. He has been on Chautauqua programs and has appeared in a number of professional operas. At present, he sings on the Cathedral hour over the Columbia network.

TWO MEN HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGES

(International News Service)

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—John Stroyls, 35, and Michael Savage, 27, both of Westland, near here, were held for court by Alderman Morgan McClelland last night on charges of aggravated assault and battery preferred by Emma Chimiel, 18, of Venice. She accused them of forcing her to ride in an auto against her objections. Stroyls was released in $1,000 bond and Savage committed to jail in default of bond.

Aged Woman Weds Young Salesman

Mrs. Sarah V. Brown, Evanston, Illinois, Millionairess Takes Salesman Husband

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 21.—A romance between a 68-year-old millionairess and a 29-year-old automobile salesman came to light today with the revelation that Mrs. Sarah V. Brown, Evanston's richest woman, had eloped with Harry C. Wils.

The romance began when Wils called at Mrs. Brown's mansion and tried to sell her a car. Today the newlywed Mrs. Brown-Wils disclosed that she had purchased a car—for her husband. It was her third marriage. Her second husband, Jack Deynzer, a bath curtain manufacturer, paved the way for a divorce when he objected to driving a gold-handled pink sedan presented to him by Mrs. Brown-Wils.

Her first husband, Edwin F. Brown, a bank president, was the inventor of the steam tricycle during the 1890s.

Will Re-Examine Voting Machines

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Tuesday planned a re-examination of the two makes of voting machines now in use in Pennsylvania, the Automatic and the Poole.

The re-examination was scheduled for October 28 and 29, and in order that it may be held, those requesting it must post $450 for the payment of the three members of the board of examiners to be appointed by the secretary. In both cases that amount has been paid over to the state.

Overeating Should Be Given More Emphasis

"There is much publicity on the subject of diet. But it can truthfully be said that hundreds of thousands of words have been written on reducing compared to the hundreds that have been penned on over-eating in the first place. And this, despite the very evident fact that a reducing dietary is quite superfluous to those who have maintained a proper weight by considering the value and limitations of food," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"The paramount question of willpower is involved in this matter as it is in every worthwhile plan or endeavor. And it must be confessed that a great deal of it is required to treat food as a sustaining agent rather than as a sport. For that reason, literally millions are daily consuming much more provender than their bodies actually require and a large number of this foolish class are shortening their lives in the process.

"Where the food question is concerned, many people are entirely guided by the principle of 'I want it', somewhat motivated by the same attitude that prompts children to appropriate everything in the food line (or any other line for that matter) that comes within reach. However, in this connection the youngsters can in no wise be blamed; they do not know better. On the other hand, adults do.

"Eating is one of nature's major physical pleasures. But the end results of over-indulgence are just as severe as they are in other excesses, often more so. Capacity eaters no doubt derive a lot of fun out of the extra portions of meat, potatoes and pie, but the fun stops at the palate. Most assuredly the remainder of the body does not enjoy it to the same extent; and that is what causes it eventually, if not sooner, to backfire.

"Indeed, a person may scrupulously adhere to all the basic laws of health except the one of moderate food intake, and by this omission destroy all or more of the good to be derived from them. The chain, in this instance, being only as strong as the weakest link.

"To handle the personal food problem properly, one does not need to turn into a diet crank. The point to be emphasized is that too much or too little food is equally bad. A well balanced dietary and moderation represent the keynote; and if in doubt concerning this all-important question, obtain professional advice. One can not be too sensible where food is involved. In fact, it is perfectly safe to say in this connection: More sense, longer life."

ASKS $10,000 FOR SIX HOURS IN JAIL

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 21.—Alleging that he was arrested and held prisoner in the Monaca jail without just cause, Jesse Anderson, of Sharon, filed suit for $10,000 damages today against Francis A. and Marie Legoullon and Constable D. B. Winkle, all of Monaca. Anderson alleges he was locked up for six hours last July, and at the instance of the Legoullons, an information charging obstruction of a legal process was made against him, and he was held for court under $500 bond by Justice of the Peace Harrison Winkle. He alleges the information was never returned to the court, and that his reputation and character were damaged.

Thirty-Four In Hotel Escape As Fire Breaks Out

Woman And Three Children Carried To Safety As Atlantic City Hotel Burns

HOTEL IS BADLY GUTTED BY FIRE

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—Thirty-four persons were forced to flee their rooms when flames broke out in the Mecca Hotel here early today. A woman and three children were carried to safety and 30 others scantily clad fled as smoke filled the building. The structure was badly damaged.

Daisy Smith, 34, was carried to the street, by a policeman after she had been overcome by smoke. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Roe, proprietors of the hotel, carried their three children, Winifred, 6, Andrew, Jr., 5, and Jerry 4, to the street, while several others were affected by the dense smoke before they reached safety.

The fire was believed to have started in a restaurant on the first floor. Firemen confined the flames for the most part to the restaurant.

Tree Landmark 204 Years Removed At Franklin Home

The Tree Was A Mere Sapling When Washington Was Born

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 21.—A landmark older than Franklin has just passed with removal of a giant black walnut tree which for 204 years has stood in the rear of the residence property of Mrs. H. D. Hulin, overlooking the junction of French creek and the Allegheny river.

When George Washington was born, the tree was a mere sapling. The age of the tree is authenticated by the growth rings. Probably the old sentinel would not have been cut down had it not become a menace to nearby buildings. It died several years ago, and every heavy wind threatened to start it on an era of destruction.

The tree towered 128 feet and was four feet six inches at the base. The stump may be exhibited at the Chicago world's fair in 1933 as one of the oldest and best specimens of black walnut in the United States.

The first white owner of the land upon which the tree stood was Mrs. Hudlin's grandfather, Charles Ridgway, who died 77 years ago. He had a log cabin on the opposite side of Elk street and a cave near the root of this tree was known to be frequented by Indians in the early part of the nineteenth century. Their visits to the spot are part of the family history.

St. Andrews' Club Has Fine Time At Church In Sharon

St. John's Church Of Sharon Entertains Twenty-Three New Castle Men

An enjoyable evening was spent by the St. Andrews Athletic club members, some twenty-three strong, as they took advantage of the fine hospitality of St. John's church of Sharon to play volley ball, basketball and go swimming. The Sharon church was thrown open to the New Castle men for the evening.

The St. John's church gym and swimming pool is one of the finest in this district. The trip to Sharon was made possible by Rev. Black, pastor of St. Andrew's church.

A series of basketball games will be arranged between St. Andrew's and St. John's of Sharon. More definite details of the basketball activity will be announced at a later date. A vote of thanks is extended to St. John's church of Sharon for their hospitality in entertaining the New Castle men.

DIES WHILE AWAITING AID AFTER CRASH

GRAFTON, W. Va., Oct. 21.—Death came to John Leutske, 50, as he and a companion waited in vain for a third man to return with aid after their truck was wrecked near Cecil, W. Va.

Leutske was crushed between the truck and a pole. Raymond Hussion decided to stay with Leutske in the orchard while the driver of the machine, William Paige, went for aid.

Leutske died and Hussion after waiting hours for Paige's return came to Grafton. He learned Paige's truck became stuck in the mud and he had fallen asleep.

During the past few months thousands of persons have been attracted to the grave.

Sabbath School Workers Gather

Leadership Training School Is Inaugurated In County Last Night

All anticipations were exceeded when 125 active Sabbath School workers gathered for the Leadership Training School at the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at 7:30 to hear Dr. George W. Wellburn, Christian Education Superintendent of the State Sabbath School Association gave his first lecture on "Principles of Teaching". Nineteen New Castle Sabbath Schools were represented and three Sabbath School in the county outside of the city.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church who is Dean of the school, held opening devotionals and explained briefly the purpose and plans for the school. Brief remarks were also made by the county association president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., and the large class was then turned over to Dr. Wellburn.

The Sabbath Schools of New Castle represented were the First Presbyterian, First Methodist, First Baptist, First U. P., Second U. P., First Christian, Epworth M. E., Croton M. E., Reformed Presbyterian, Mahoning Presbyterian, Central Presbyterian, Hungarian Baptist, Emmanuel Evangelical, Rhoads Mission, Second Baptist, Emmanuel Baptist, Primitive Methodist, St. Lukes A. M. E., Bethel A. M. E., and those outside of New Castle were Bessemer Presbyterian, Kings Chapel and Rose Point Reformed Presbyterian.

The next class period at New Castle, will be held Thursday evening, October 22, at 7:30 at the First Baptist church. While those wishing the credit, and practically all do, will receive it, still if any Sabbath workers wish to come just to "listen in" they are welcome at any of these class periods.

Tonight, Wednesday, the New Wilmington school will be held at U. P. church.

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 21—Frederick L. Mann, of Folsom, Pa., who told the Delaware County court that he is worth a million dollars, today faced a 90 day jail sentence, following his conviction on charges of shoplifting. He was accused of taking small articles valued at about $10 from a store.

Conceit vs. Record

From a field of eleven candidates, most of whom were successful businessmen, the Republican voters of this County selected two successful businessmen as their candidates for the office of County Commissioner. He who attempts to break down the long established principle of majority rule, on the theory that his qualifications are so exceptionally superior as to justify his action, ought to be able to produce a record of preeminent success in business. The candidate's self-conceit is not sufficient basis for such a claim. Claims are easily made, but records speak for themselves.

Inquiry Into Ability To Pay Debts To U. S. Urged Before Revision

Senator Bingham Sees Difficulty In Asking Nations To Disarm Themselves If We Cut Their Payments

By HIRAM BINGHAM
Senator from Connecticut

If it were shown to us that the capacity of European nations to pay had altered, I would be willing to vote for a revision, but only after a thorough study by an able congressional committee such as the one which studied the last revision.

Of course, such a revision would increase the burden upon the taxpayers and we first should have the assurance and satisfactory proof that the taxpayers were going to benefit by any revision or extension of payments. To be a Shylock is never to the advantage of a creditor. There is no question in my mind but that foreign nations should pay us what they can.

For us to ask the nations of Europe to disarm themselves would, in my opinion, place upon us the responsibility of flying to their relief if they were attacked by some power that had not really reduced its own forces. In accordance with the general plan, if all the nations in the world would agree to reduce their armaments so as to maintain a really effective police force, then we might well put pressure on every nation to disarm.

I recognize the fact that if they would cut down their budgets for the army and navy they would have more money to pay their debts and would not have to press their people with such a burden of taxation. If they would voluntarily agree among themselves to reduce armaments, they would need have no fear whatever that we will take advantage of their weakened condition and attack them or to use force of arms to collect the money they owe us.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Tell Child Fact About Adoption

Foster Parent Urged To Disclose Truth To Youth

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Recently a reader communicated to the writer that she had told her dentist of some of the things which recently appeared in this column about adopted children, in which it was pointed out that the question of the adopted child's parenthood naturally arises out of the perfectly normal question by every child properly treated, "Where do babies come from?" "From the mother's body," is the right answer, of course. Why any parent should hesitate to make such a matter-of-fact reply has always been more than I could figure out. The child will probably say next, "Did I come from your body?" If not speaking to the mother, he will say, "Did I come from my mother's body?"

In the article referred to I stated that here is the logical place to reveal to the adopted child that the one he now calls his mother is not his real mother, though she cares for him and loves as a real mother would. The question will inevitably come up at some time, and the earlier it is disposed of the better for all concerned.

Otherwise it will be a source of tremendous repression to the foster parent and the child. When, moreover, the child discovers the facts, what a shock he will experience! "Why was I never told?" may be to him a question never satisfactorily answered. If I had an adopted child, it seems to me that my whole relationship would be impaired and my complete comradeship with him rendered impossible, under such conditions.

But the informant wrote me that the dentist's quick retort (in unconscious self-defense, no doubt) was "I don't want to tell my boy he is adopted, else he will think he does not need to obey me." This dentist friend seems to have an unfortunate notion about obedience. He assumes that parents are obeyed by their children, and ought to be, because they are their children"s parents.

It is really none of my business what other parents think about the matter; I do not expect my children to obey me because I am their parent. If they merely obey me for that reason they have learned a useless, even dangerous, sort of obedience.

The only reason I want my children to obey me is that they might learn to adjust themselves most comfortably to other adults and acquire habitual regard for constituted authority in whomsoever it may be vested, whether in the police, in the care-taker with whom they are left in our absence, the teacher at school or Sunday school, or any other person representing direct or delegated responsibility or authority in relation to their behavior.

Unless my children acquire such generalized obedience, I shall have failed as a parent, no matter how obedient they may be to me. Indeed, I do not want my children to think of obedience as peculiarly related to me or their mother. Provided I can earn their respect and co-operation, I need have little thought about their obedience so far as I personally am concerned.

A problem all of us parents have is to lead our children to see that obedience is far more than a child-parent relationship. We need to lead them to realize how they can become more lovable, and more useful as citizens in such a way that it will be obvious to them that delegated authority is necessary, that obedience to such authority is essential to the common good of society and, in the long run, to their greatest personal satisfaction and welfare.

W. J. Eroe, Jr. For County Controller

W. J. EROE, JR.

Announces his candidacy for the office of County Controller, the Democratic county committee having named him on the first ballot, Mr. Eroe receiving every vote.

Mr. Eroe is 40 years of age and comes from one of the pioneer families of Lawrence county. He was born, raised and educated in the public schools of this county and having resided therin continuously with the exception of the time spent in army service with Troop F on the Mexican border in 1916 and again in 1917-18 with the 28 Division in the World War.

Mr. Eroe is married, has a family, is a property owner and a taxpayer. He was formerly in the jewelry business with his father, W. J. Eroe, Sr. He is now employed by the Burton Explosives Co.

Mr. Eroe is well qualified to perform the duties of county controller, having served four years as county auditor and having again received the Democratic nomination for said office without opposition in the recent primaries, which speaks for itself as to his reputation for honesty, integrity and fair dealing to all.

From the stand point of taxpayers, the office of county controller is the most important in the county. His powers are extensive. He controls the incoming finances of the county, he audits the tax books, the accounts of the various tax collection offices and sees that any money due the county is properly and promptly returned, namely: The offices of county commissioners, county treasure, sheriff, register and recorder, phothonotary, and tax collectors, he passes on and OK's the bonds of the various office holders and is custodian of same, he passes on all bills before warrants can be drawn for payment and must OK all warrants before cashed by treasure. He passes on all contracts and see that bids are let for all expenditures over $100 with certain exceptions and all over $300 without exception. It is his duty to set aside certain office hours to hear complaints of individual citizens. He has power to subpoena, issue warrants, administer oaths, arrest dishonest official and to institute court proceedings to remove defaulting or delinquent officials if the county commissioner neglects or refuses to do so, and must keep records and accounts up to date on the county finances.

This fellow, taxpayer, is the office to which you are about to elect a citizen of the commonwealth. Choose carefully. Mr. Eroe realizing the responsibilities of this office resigned as secretary of the Democratic county committee as he does not believe the holder of such an important office should even be accused of any private or political affiliation that would prevent him from fully freely and courageously exercising the duties of this office without fear, favor, or prejudice.

Mr. Eroe promises if elected to administrate the affairs of this high office with the highest regard to the interest of all the citizens and he assures you he will so conduct the affairs of the office to the end, that he may retain his own self respect and the respect of the entire community.

Mr. Eroe is the best qualified for the office. He has the courage of his convictions, ability, experience, training, education, backed by a life long interest in his county and the highest regard for its citizens. If this counts and this only should count he should be elected county controller and to this end he respectively solicits your vote and influence.

Lack Of Food Often Causes Tuberculosis

Dr. Clendening Fears Depression May Increase Ill

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

During the past two years I have crossed the United States several times, been in most of our large cities, as well as many English and French cities. I have taken pains to see whether there were any evident effects of the depression on health.

In the large cities, particularly on the Atlantic seaboard, I have seen more people on the street with lumps in the neck than for many years. The return of the King's Evil, Scrofula, or in other words, Tuberculosis of the Lymph Nodes of the Neck! Confirmation of my observations was found in several hospitals.

Tuberculosis was one of the diseases that definitely increased during the latter years of the war. For 75 years the incidence of tuberculosis has been steadily decreasing. There has been only one part of the curve that showed any interruption. From 1917 to 1921 the number of cases of tuberculosis rose shorply. After that the curve resumed its downward path.

The only reasonable explanation is starvation. The increase in tuberculosis was due to lack of food—war rations. Those nations which had the strictest rationing had the largest number of cases of tuberculosis.

It is to be hoped that the experience will riot be repeated in the present period of depression. The present depression is not due to crop failures or lack of the necessities of life. The government will have a large surplus of wheat to dispense this winter. In St. Louis we read lately that commission merchants have been dumping enormous quantities of perishable foods into the Mississippi river every day. Many other resources of the same kind can be saved to preserve the nation's health.

Stop Night Coughing

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes further too. It eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.

A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. American Society Woman Is Robbed Of $50,000 Gems

Mrs. R. J. Anderton, Newport, R. I., Robbed Aboard Ocean Liner, Is Report

(International News Service)

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, Oct. 21.—A $50,000 jewel theft was under investigation Tuesday aboard the French liner Ile De France, en route from Le Havre to New York.

The robbery victim was a wealthy American society woman, Mrs. R. J. Anderton of Newport, R. I., whose stateroom was entered while she was in the dining-salon.

Special precautions were taken to guard staterooms of Premier Pierre Laval and other French government officials, who are traveling on the Ile De France en route to Washington.

The officers said they believed the jewels were taken by members of an international gang of jewel thieves who trailed Mr. and Mrs. Anderton from the time they left New York on the Bremen on August 21 until they boarded the Ile De France at Le Havre.

Work Is Done On Boulevard

Laurel Boulevard Is Being Fixed Under New City Plan

Fifteen men are working on Laurel avenue boulevard today through the arrangement completed by Councilman Louis G. Genkinger and the County Poor Director M. B. Hogue. The arrangement is that where a family has been receiving aid from the county, and there is an able bodied man in the family, he is to give one day's work to the city for every two dollars worth of aid.

It is Mr. Genkinger's plan to use the men on the parks of the city and thus get considerable work done which he has not felt justified in paying for in the past. The men are completing the grading in the parkway on Laurel Boulevard and will not leave the job until it is finished.

To augment the lunches which they carry, Mr. Genkinger has arranged to serve hot soup each day at noon, beginning Thursday.

Reports Given At Federation Meeting

Regular Monthly Meeting Of Lawrence County Federation Board Held Tuesday At Y. W.

With a few exceptions all the clubs of the Lawrence County Federation were represented at the regularly monthly meeting held at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday with Mrs. S. M. Matheny, president, presiding. Plans were enthusiastically laid down for the years activities.

Reports were heard from the committees.

Mrs. Harry Marshall, Home Department, urged the clubs to make scrap-books for distribution in hospitals and other institutions; Mrs. Roy Long, reporting for Health Committee announced their readiness to assist in dispensing milk in schools as was done last winter.

Mrs. Walter Eckenroad told of the two days canning at the County Fair, four days at the schools, resulting in 6,095 quarts being canned; one half of which were given to the self-helpers, the balance stored for later distribution. A plea was made for fats, and women are urged to save fat drippings. She also announced that trees will be planted on the grounds of each school building.

Mrs. Charles Greer, chairman on Educations has her committee considering its program for the Bi-Centennial celebration of George Washington's birth.

A report of the recent joint meeting of clubs in the city in connection with the work for the blind was given by Mrs. Thomas Elliott and Mrs. Lawrence Davis. Mrs. S. M. Matheny's assistance will be given the Lions Club in their sight conservation work.

The importance of the U. S. Adherence to the World Court and of drastic limitations of world armaments was stressed by Mrs. D. T. McConahy who presented petitions for signatures of the various clubs.

Mrs. W. A. Taylor, chairman on Legislation will conduct her round table discussion with clubs representatives, the first issue being the extraordinary session of the State Legislature.

The work of the Round Table of Welfare workers was presented and Mrs. S. D. Pearson, appointed to represent officially, the Lawrence County Federation.

The November 17 meeting will be in charge of the Health Department who have invited Dr. Smith of Polk Institute, a specialist on mental hygiene, to address the Federation and their guests.

"Jimmy" Rowe Is Taken By Death

Former New Castle Man, Trainor Of Twenty Grand Derby Winner, Is Dead

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21.—"Jimmy" Rowe, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's famous thoroughbred Twenty Grand, died early today from a heart attack.

He was one of the best known trainers in the turf world.

James Gordon Rowe, Jr., aged 39, is well known to many in New Castle, having held the position as assistant chief engineer of the old Standard Steel Car Company here prior to the world war.

He was born at Red Bank, New Jersey, and his father the late James Gordon Rowe, was one of the best known trainers of horses in the world. For many years he handled the horses of Mrs. Payne Whitney. When Jimmy was graduated from college he took up engineering work, but soon gave this up for horse training and became one of the best known trainers in the turf world.

The late Mr. Rowe's most famous piece of training was Twenty Grand, the Kentucky Derby winner of 1931 and also many valuable races in the East including Belmont Stakes.

A widow and two children survive. His home has been at Laurel, Maryland.

Hundred Odd Jobs Drive Under Way As Four Are Placed

State Employment Bureau Here Now Seeks 96 Placements In Experiment

The "Hundred Odd Jobs Campaign" sporsored by the local state employment bureau at the Y. M. C. A. is already under way.

Two men and two women were given part time jobs yesterday, when the drive for odd jobs started.

The "Y" office, a branch of the Bureau of Employment, Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, is desirious of cooperating with prospective employers of part time help. Small jobs around the house, yard of cellar, are badly needed. A long list of applicants for these jobs is now available.

The plan of the "Hundred Odd Jobs Campaign" is experimental, and it is hoped, will aid in bringing employers and part time workers together.

Ninety-six more odd jobs are needed before the campaign will end.

Prospective employers are urged to call the Y. M. C. A.

Finance Official Has New Plan For Increasing Funds

Means Proposed By Which Rediscountable Paper Of Banks Can Be Increased

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Means by which the rediscountable paper of commercial banks may be increased by more than $1,000,000,000 were presented to Eugene Meyer, Jr., governor of the federal reserve board today by Milan V. Ayres of Chicago, representing the National Association of Finance companies.

Ayres, who is a brother of Col. L. P. Ayres, Cleveland banker, proposed that notes of responsible companies drawn for purpose of producing funds for purchase of installment paper be made eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MRS. WILLIAM AVERELL HARRIMAN

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Mrs. William Averell Harriman holds a coveted place as a prominent figure in the fashionable world. Though to see her at a polo game or the races (she's particularly fond of races) you wouldn't think that this small, attractive brunette woman with a careless curl blowing across her cheek had presided over affairs so lavish that "snooty" Long Islanders talk about them from one season to the next.

Though she is the mother of two children, Mrs. Harriman still looks like a "bud". An engaging bright smile, and with sunny lights in her hazel eyes.

As the beautiful Marie Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan S. Norton of Philadelphia, she set a pace for younger members of society in both America and Europe.

Has Gift of Style.

Has a natural gift of style. Wears floppy sports felts as charmingly as Paris berets. Wears Eugenie styles unusually well. Was one of the first of the smart set to appear in a Eugenie hat. A white felt, which she wore to the races.

She is medium height, with warm, almost olive tinted skin. Wears little makeup, and a dark ruby-colored lip rouge . Naturally curly hair, medium bob, combed back from well-shaped forehead, side parted.

Likes to shop, but shopping is not a passion with her, as with many of her friends. Likes to wear jewelry, but only a few pieces at a time. Selects it often to blend with her costumes.

During brilliant season in Paris she surprised society of two continents by marrying the famous Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, well-known as "Sonny" Whitney, the son of the late Harry Payne Whitney. Thus Marie Norton became a part of the rich clan of Vanderbilts, as the bridegroom's father was the grandson of the dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. William Averell Harriman

This marriage, at which Harry Payne Whitney was best man, had two ceremonies. But it took only one divorce to dissolve the twice-tied knot. As Walter Winchell would say, or probably did at the time, their marriage was Reno-vated six years later.

As Mrs. Whitney, her parties were THE parties of the smart Long Island colony. As Mrs. Harriman they have lost none of their charm. For within a year after her divorce from "Sonny" Whtiney she married William Averell Harriman, equally prominent and eligible from all the desired angles as was "Sonny" Whitney.

There is a naturalness, an ease and poise and a certain wistful beauty about Mrs. Harriman which attract and hold interest.

Library Shelves Have Books From Will Durant's List

Famous American Says One Can Become Scholar In Four Years Time

"Give me just one hour a day," says Will Durant, "and in four years I will make you a scholar and a philosopher."

He presents a list of books by the reading of which this purpose will be accomplished. Most of these books are to be found in the Free Public library and the complete list will be available for distribution, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, stated today.

Mr. Durant's bibliography is arranged under twelve groups as follows:

Introductory, Asia and Africa, Greece, Rome, Age of Christianity, Italian Renaissance, Sixteenth Century Europe, Seventeenth Century, Eighteenth Century, Europe in the Nineteenth Century, America, Twentieth Century.

He promises, not material gain, nor even easy going, but an Odyssey of books which will enable us to "sit at the table with Shakespeare and Goethe, laugh at the world with Rabelais and see its loveliness with John Keats."

Library patrons are urged to ask for Will Durant's list at the library.

Going Around In Washington

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—At Moscow, Idaho, this past summer, Senator Borah, potent chairman of the powerful senate foreign relations committee, in the course of a speech he was making to his constituents attacked the League of Nations for its failure to halt the unofficial war that Japan is waging in Manchuria against the native Chinese. Borah referred to the matter as the latest instance of the League's futility.

Several days later, his good friend Senator Glass, peppery former secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet, sitting in the office of his Lynchburg, newspaper, saw a press dispatch telling about Borah's speech and his attack on the League. Senator Glass is a staunch adherent of the League. He promptly sat down and wrote a sharp editorial under the title "The League Will Act." Glass criticized his senatorial comrade for being too hasty in his denunciation. The League will act in due time, Glass declared editorially.

A few days ago Glass stopped in at Borah's office in the Senate office building on a legislative matter. That morning press dispatches told of Japanese army aviators bombing Manchurian cities and killing hundreds of non-combatants, among them women and children. Weeks before, the League meeting in Geneva had decided that it could do nothing to prevent Japan's military aggression. Japan had refused to permit the League to act.

When Glass entered his office Borah had before him the "League Will Act' 'editorial of several months previous. He greeted his friend with a smile and held up the editorial.

"Well, Carter," he said. "I see you say the League will act. It is certainly taking it a long time to get down to it."

"Well," Senator Glass replied, dismissing the matter with a wave of his hand. "You can't expect them to do it in an hour."

Senator Borah laughed and assured his friend that he would keep the editorial for future reference.

President Hoover's famous conference with congressional leaders the night of October 6 has made one important air travel convert. Prior to the meeting Representative "Jack" Garner, of Texas, the Democratic choice for Speaker of the next House, had declined all invitations to fly. Garner said very frankly that he didn't want to fly.

In his telegrams asking the leaders to come to Washington the President offered to place army airplanes at their disposal in order to get them to the Capital in time. The only way Garner could make the long trip from his Texas home in time to be present at the conference was by plane. So discarding past scruples "Jack" accepted the plane offer and made his first trip.

So pleased was he with the experience that when he returned home he did so by air. As powerful leader of the Democrats in the House and the possible Speaker of the next session, Garner's conversion to the airplane is a big boost to the flying industry.

WOLVES CLUB HEARS INTERESTING TALK

An interesting semi-monthly dinner meeting of The Wolves Club was held last night at the Elks club. The speaker of the evening following the dinner was D. D. Valiens president of the club, who gave a most interesting talk on his impressions of New York City.

St. Vitus Parish Will Pray Sunday For Better Times

Blessed Sacrament Will Be Exposed And Large Groups Will Be Present

EVERY MEMBER WILL TAKE ACTIVE PART

Sunday, the observance of the Feast of Christ The King, will take place at St. Vitus Parish Church, and in accordance with the request of the bishop of the diocese, it will be observed as a day of prayer for improved conditions in the world.

Adding to the solemnity of the occasion will be the exposing to the worshipers, the Blessed Sacrament throughout the entire day. The members of the parish will gather in adoration of the Sacrament and arrangements have been made so that groups will be present at specified time for an hour, keeping the church filled at all times.

The observance of the day will start with the celebration of mass at 7:30 a. m., next Sunday morning, during which the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed in the main sanctuary. This will continue at 9 a. m. Mass and the 10:45 a. m. High Mass. The Sacrament will continue to be exposed in the main sanctuary until the close of the evening service, which starts at 7:30 p. m.

At the evening service, there will be the Holy Hour, and during the service there will be the litany of the Saints and a procession of the men of the parish, including the members of the Holy Name Society and Knigts of St. Vitus. Members of the latter organization will act as guards of honor then and throughout the day. In the procession, the men will carry lighted candles, which will be a beautiful and impressive sight.

Beginning at twelve o'clock noon Sunday, the bell of the church will toll for a moment, calling attention of the faithful to the services and the prayer being offered for improved times.

Every hour during the entire period of time that the Blessed Sacrament is being exposed, the priests of the parish, will speak for five minutes in English and Italian on the occasion being observed.

The school children have been divided into several large groups and will attend at special appointed times. Between six and seven hundred boys and girls of the parish will participate. There will be special groups of these children from one to two o'clock, two to three o'clock and three to four o'clock. Between five and six, the Boys of the confirmation class will be present, while between six and seven o'clock, the girl's of the confirmation class will attend.

Every hour, there will be twenty members of the Knights of St. Vitus, the Mother of Sorrow Sodality, L. C. B. A. and Children of Mary Sodality in attendance. Special prayers will be recited each hour. There will be a special sermon in the evening, at the close of the day of prayer.

Fayette County Officials Seize Lottery Tickets

Two Men Arrested In Connection With Gigantic Clearing House Lottery

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 21.—Fayette county officers today were preparing a wholesale clean-up of district agents of the McKeesport Clearing House pool, following the arrest of Charles Trimmer, 26, of McKeesport, and Roy Richardson, 32, of Morgantown, W. Va., at Smithfield, nine miles south of here.

The names of hundreds of persons who have played the pools and have identified the agents were said by county officers to be in their possession. More than 3,000 tickets which had been sold on yesterday's number and about 1,000 books were taken when the two men were apprehended.

The arrest came when Corporal W. G. McKee, of the state highway patrol, stopped the car to examine its brakes and became suspicious of the frightened attitude of the pair. Information was made against Trimmer and Richardson, charging a lottery.

Miller Wins Case For Second Time

Jury Finds In His Favor In Suit Brought By Julius Bogenschultz Of Buffalo

In the case of Julius and Lillian Bogenschultz of Buffalo, N. Y., against John W. Miller of this city, which was tried before Judge R. L. Hildebrand, the jury awarded a verdict in favor of the dependant. This is the second time that Mr. Miller has been awarded a verdict in the case.

The case was one in which the plaintiffs claimed that Miller had run into the back of their automobile, while they were driving near Conneaut, O. Plaintiffs alleged that Miller's brakes were not working good and that he did not have the car under proper control.

Miller denied that his brakes were bad, and further claimed that he was driving carefully. His contention was that he had pulled out to pass the Bogenschultz car, when the driver of the car suddenly veered toward the center of the road, causing the Miller car to catch the Bogenschultz car on the rear end.

After Miller had won on the first trial of the case the defendants asked for a new trial, and the case Miller has now won is the second trial.

Woman Sought For Trunk Murders Was In Former Sensation

By ALLEN YOUNT
International News Service Special Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service)

OLNEY, Ill., Oct. 21.—The nationwide search for Mrs. Winnifred Ruth Judd, suspected slayer of Agnes Leroi, a nurse, and Hedwig Samuelson, 27, a school teacher, today brought to light another sensational case in 1922, in which Mrs. Judd, then Ruth McKinnell was a figure.

The girl, at the time, a high school student of Olney, was found unclad in the hayloft of a local minister's barn after disappearing for several days and charged that two men had abducted her, naming an Indiana youth as the father of her unborn child.

The case occurred when the girl was a high school student here. She was considered at that time a neurasthenic, and a letter she wrote to the mother of a young man whom she accused of seducing her, showed a fanciful mind. Ruth had been a student of the Free Methodist college at Greenville, Ill., the year previous to her abduction.

Ruth disappeared for several days in November of 1922, and mystery shrouded her whereabouts. On Nov. 14, 1922, Rev. E. L. Lawler, a Methodist pastor at Calhoun, Ill., five miles south of Olney, found her unclothed in the hayloft of his barn. The girl told a wierd and rambling story of an alleged abduction.

Finally she told officers here what Ruth called her complete story. She said she had been chloroformed by two men while she was sleeping. She said that she had been held captive for two days in a deserted house somewhere south of Olney. Following her alleged abduction, she told officers of her escape. The tale, however, was incoherent.

Ruth told them she eluded the two men and escaped from them without her clothing. She said she sought refuge in the hayloft. Rev. Lawler brought the girl to his home, where his wife provided her with food and clothing. She was then brought to her home in Olney, where she was under medical treatment for some time.

The truth of her alleged abduction was never fully established. A charge of abduction was filed by Ruth against a young man of Montezuma, Ind., whom she claimed was the father of her unborn child. The youth was arrested and brought here to stand trial, but the case was dropped before it reached the court.

Rev. H. J. McKinnell and his family left Olney in 1924, two years after the incident. He is now located at Darlington, Ind., where he is retired minister.

Opinion Rendered In Land Dispute

Court Finds Case Of Paul Erskine Against B. And O. Railroad In Wrong Court

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers this morning in the case of Paul Erskine and others against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, a preliminary injunction granted some time ago is dissolved, and the case is ordered to be certified to the law side of the court.

The dispute grew out of a strip of land lying between the right of way of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad company and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, west of this city. It was bounded by the lands of Lucretia Kimmel on the east and John McVeigh on the west.

Erskine and others secured a preliminary injunction against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, it being alleged that the company was filling in land which belonged to the plaintiff. It the court's decision it is held that the question involved is one of a title to real estate and that the suit should not have been brought in the equity, but in the law court.

Maj. Gen. Price Will Be Retired

Selection Of Successor Is Matter Of Interest To Politicians

GOVERNOR WILL NAME SUCCESSOR

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Governor Pinchot is expected to follow the established precedent when it comes to designating a new commander for the 28th Division, Pennsylvania National Guard. Major General William G. Price, Jr., of Chester, will be retired during the coming year and it will be necessary for the chief executive to designate a new commander for the division.

The senior brigadier general is Lieutenant Governor E. C. Shannon, of Columbia. General Shannon commands the 52nd Cavalry Brigade.

Following General Shannon in seniority is General Edward Martin, State Treasurer and Republican State Committee. He commands the 55th Infantry brigade.

Politically, Generals Shannon and Martin do not train in the same camp with the governor. Last year General Shannon was the running mate of Francis Shunk Brown, of Philadelphia, who lost the Republican nomination to Governor Pinchot.

During the primary fight of 1930 General Martin favored the Brown candidacy although he did not come out openly for the Philadelphian because of his position with the State committee. After the primary, however, he worked hard for the election of the entire Republican ticket.

Soon after the November election of 1930 Governor Pinchot and General Martin parted company so far as politics is concerned. There has been no developments lately to indicate that they are being drawn closer together.

The 1932 training period of the Pennsylvania National Guard is the last that General Price will command. He is soon to reach the retiring age of sixty-four years which will necessitate the appointment of a new major general.

While it is not obligatory on the part of the governor to select the oldest brigadier general for the post those close to Mr. Pinchot forecast that he will select General Shannon, who is the ranking officer of his grade.

In the event precedent if followed by the governor through the selection of General Shannon as division commander the Columbia soldier will have but a year to serve in that post. He is almost the same age as General Price. The present lieutenant governor would command the 28th Division for only one summer encampment.

Retirement of General Shannon will make the present State Treasurer the ranking brigadier general. If the governor again follows precedent in the case of General Martin the latter will remain as division commander for more than ten years. He will not reach the army's retirement age of 64 until September 18, 1945.

The post of division commander carries with it an annual salary of $8,000. Except for commanding the division during the summer encampment period there is little to do on the part of the general holding this position.

Three Youths Are Held For Court On Serious Charges

Three Youths At Pittsburgh Held For Causing Injury And Robbing Of Man

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21. — Three youths were held for court Tuesday charged with robbing Charles Dobrowski, 37, beating him unconscious and leaving their victim on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks where a short time later a switch engine crushed both his legs, necessitating amputation.

Those held were John Dobranski, 18, J. Sujkowski, 18, and Anthony Wyzykowsik, 17. James Dillon, 19, was held charged with receiving stolen goods after it was testified he sold a watch stolen from the injured man.

The trio admitted the robbery but denied leaving Dobrowski unconscious on the railroad tracks.

Temple Sisterhood Convention Ends

Sixth Biennial Meeting Of State Organization Ends At Altoona Today

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 20.—Officers were elected at the closing session of the sixth biennial meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, here Tuesday. Mrs. Max Grumbacher, York, was named president, succeeding Mrs. Saul Lavine, Pittsburgh, who served four years.

Scranton was named for the next meeting in 1933, and Reading selected for the 1932 meeting of the board of directors.

Other officers are: Vice presidents, Mrs. Samuel H. Friedman, Scranton; Mrs. Hiram Hirsch, Philadelphia; Mrs. Charles Mantinband, Williamsport; recording secretary, Mrs. Stanley Adler, Harrisburgh, and treasurer, Mrs. Chester Kaufmann, Pittsburgh.

Resolutions on the death of Thomas Edison were adopted.

Grape Stealer Is Shot In Heel And Must Serve Time

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 21.—Marion Najchiowski, 18, shot in the right heel when caught stealing grapes, according to police, was sentenced to serve thirty days in the Erie county jail when he pleaded guilty Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Walter Goodwin.

H. Ripley, Harbor Creek township farmer and his son came upon Najchiowski Monday night as he was about to take seven quart baskets of grapes to his car nearby. When ordered to halt, Najchiowski was reported to have fled and the younger Ripley fired.

The prisoner was removed to the Hamot hospital for treatment after which he will begin his prison sentence.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

For coughs due to colds, the best remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

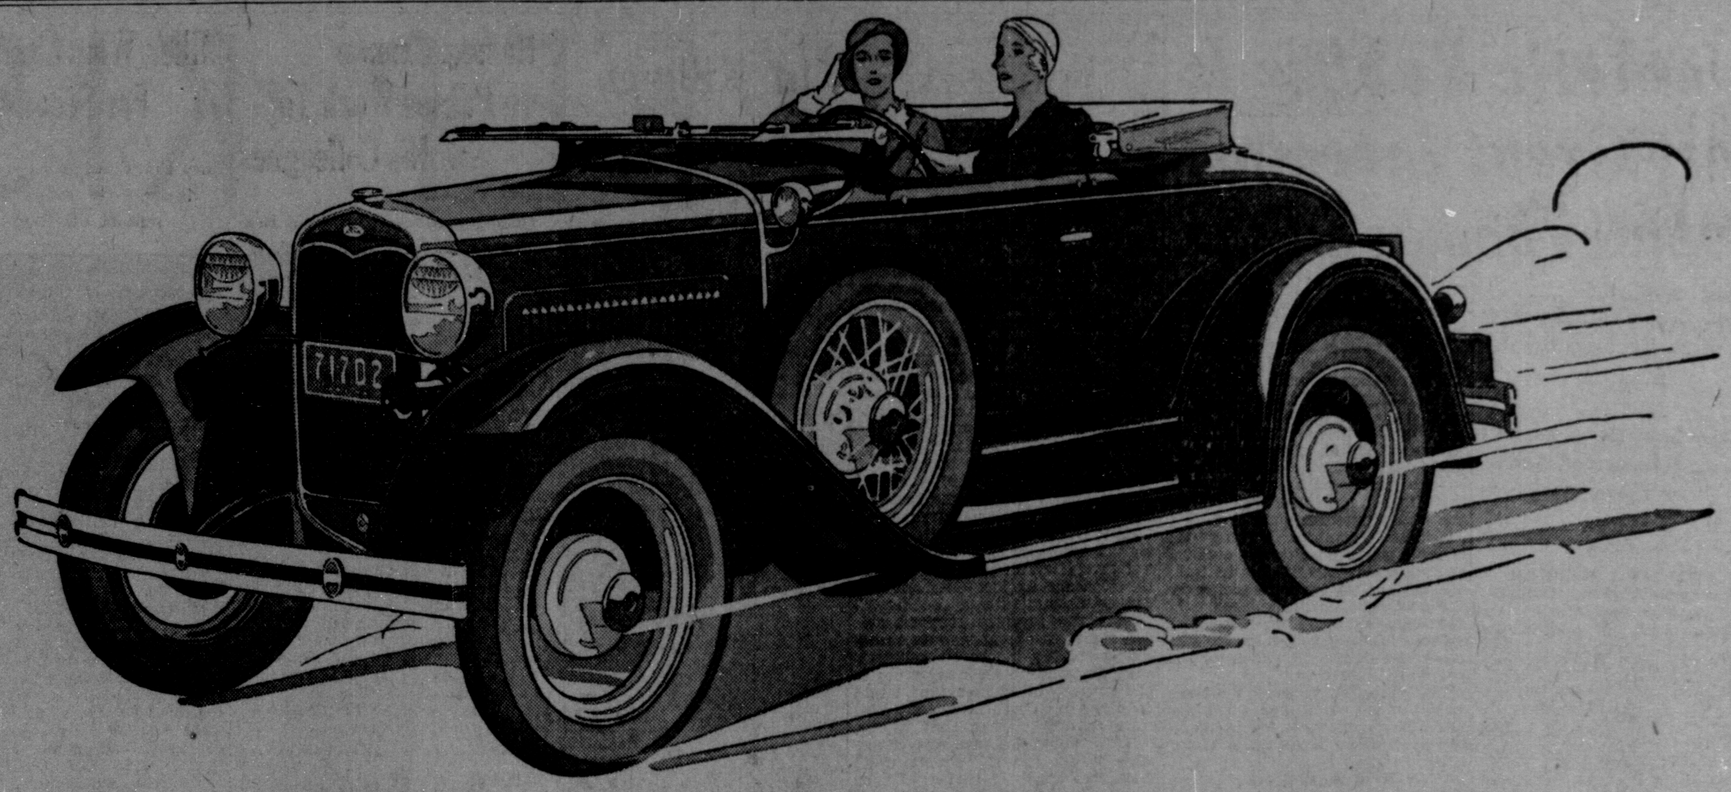

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A message to thousands of women who have said,

"I've always longed to drive a Roadster"

DEEP in the heart of almost every woman who drives a car is a longing for a roadster . . . a trim and stylish car that she may call her very own.

That dream, long cherished, can now come true. For here, at an unusually low price, is a roadster that is the very answer to your hopes. So alert and reliable that it puts a new joy in motoring. So altogether smart and stylish that it merits an admiring turn of the head on every highway.

The Ford De Luxe Roadster is beautifully finished in a variety of colors. Blonde or brunette, there is a color to suit your particular taste and type—perhaps even to match your Fall ensemble.

The wide seat is done in genuine leather with deep comfortable cushion and back. Head lamps, radiator shell, cowl lights, cowl finish strip, hub caps, tail light and door handles are made of Rustless Steel. There's a roomy rumble seat for those many occasions when you've three or four in the party.

The windshield folds flat and is made of Triplex polished plate safety glass—for your added protection in driving. Natural wood bows give added charm to the distinctive tan top.

See this beautiful De Luxe Roadster at the nearest Ford dealer's and arrange for a demonstration. In beauty, comfort, safety and performance, you will know it is a real bargain at $475.

Body Of Woman Is Unidentified

Officials At Erie Fail To Get Identification To Body Washed Ashore

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 21.—Identity of the woman whose decomposed body was ashed up on the shore of Lake Erie was still a mystery today.

Although scores of persons have sought to identify the woman no clue has yet been received by authorities which would solve the case.

Police said Tuesday they were hopeful of receiving information from another city which might reveal the woman's identity.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

Synthetic Rubber Is Last Great Invention By Late Thomas Edison

Edison Beat Death By Five Days To His Last Great Invention

Manufacture Of Rubber From Golden Rod And Other Ingredients Assured

By CHARLES J. McGUIRK
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 21.—Thomas A. Edison beat death by five days to his last great invention, the manufacture of synthetic rubber from golden rod and other ingredients.

Synthetic rubber, this correspondent learned from authoritative sources today, was finally proven practical in the wizard's laboratories last Tuesday, even as Edison sank downward through a stupor into the coma which ended in his death.

Finished By Associates

The final series of experiments, which ended a twelve year search for a substitute for rubber under Edison's own direction, were completed by Fred Ott and Charles Dally, both of them associates of the inventor for more than fifty years. This series was merely a "tieing-up" process.

Edison was almost certain he had discovered the process for its manufacture when he took to his bed on October 2 last. He, himself, hal already worked out a method of manufacturing latex, the ingredient which fuses the other elements of the synthesis into a practical and durable rubber suitable to commercial use.

Edison Was Worried

But he was not positive. And he was worried. Wistfully, he wished that the successful completion of the invention might be accomplished before death overtook him.

From his bed, he directed the experiments.

Ott and Dally, who had collaborated with him during the twelve years of research, worked on formulae supplied them by the inventor and reported their progress, or lack of it at the end of nearly every day.

They knew that the successful end was in sight.

When Edison returned from Florida he had already successfully vulcanized the "golden rod" rubber. But the process was too expensive. There remained the task of making it commercially practicable. This entailed the cheaper manufacture of latex, the viscuous substance which holds the other ingredients together.

Edison set about seeking the cheaper method. He turned over the routine of his experiments to Dally and Ott and sat for hours gazing out the window. Waiting for the thoughts that were wont to crash into his massive brain from the supreme intelligence in which he so earnestly believed.

When the thoughs would not come, he got up out of the great chair that stood beside his desk and went for a ride through the Orange mountains.

Went To Bed Oct. 2

One day, nature sent him the message that his time was approaching. That day was October 2.

And on that day he refused to get into his automobile. He took to his bed instead.

Edison had knowledge that his death was approaching. He communicated that knowledge to those around him. He communicated it to Dally and Ott, his aged associates and wistfully told them that he only wished he could live to see synthetic rubber an accomplished fact.

The two old men set themselves to make his wish come true if that were possible. They became voluntary prisoners in the laboratory and worked day and night on their experiments. They reported at nightfall every day to their chief, who received their reports propped up in his bed.

Reported Failure

But time passed and death began to close in on the inventor and the end eluded them. Experiment after experiment proved a failure. It was not, they thought, to be. But they had been associated too long with Thomas A. Edison to allow one experiment, or ten, or a hundred, or a thousand, to discourage them. They went on working doggedly, and death hovered.

The week which ended on October 10th last saw Dally and Ott still groping in the darkness, missing the intellect of the master who solved difficulties with a flashing stroke of a brilliant thought. On Sunday, Oct. 11, they came to him and told him that the cheaper process still eluded them, and he turned his face wearily to the wall.

On Monday he started to sink into a stupor. But Daily and Ott were still pounding doggedly at their experiments. And on Tuesday night the solution flashed out of the mysterious nothingness, just as they had often seen it do when Thomas Edison was directing the experiment. They telephoned the News to Mrs. Edison, but it seemed it was too late.

Edison Is Told

Perhaps it wasn't, though, for Mrs. Edison, on Friday, reached down into the sinking consciousness of her husband and touched the spark of his dimming intellect by telegraphing in Morse code by pressure on his wrist. Perhaps she sent the message of the success of rubber and if she did the inventor will know no greater Heaven.

Edison first undertook to manufacture synthetic rubber during the war through sheer patriotism. When the blockade against Germany began to tighten around the central powers the inventor received evidence that five great manufacturing plants in the blockaded countries were devoting all their resources to the making of springs that would take the jar out of vehicles which were running on iron-shod wheels.

These would not have been necessary if the central powers could have had access to rubber. Edison looked from Germany into his own country. He saw immediately that transportation was one of the greatest factors in the development of the United States. He saw also that we were dependent for rubber, the greatest element of speed and comfort in transportation, on foreign sources. He set about remedying this. He would produce rubber in the United States, make his country independent of outside sources for its rubber supply.

Looked to Weeds

The solution of the problem, he recognized, did not lie in manufacture alone. With the price of labor higher in the United States than in any other country, the straight-out manufacture of rubber could not be accomplished at a production cost that could meet world competition. He sought the answer in the fields, among the weeds.

The experiments were begun in 1920. They were carried on in the usual Edison manner, 10,000 experiments, 10,000 failures. It was simply a process of elimination. Three years later he and his associates found golden rod, the greatest source of latex. The experiments went on. He came closer and closer to his goal until hovering death interrupted him.

One of the men associated with Edison admitted today that the puzzle was solved last Tuesday.

"It came all of a sudden," he said. "We were dead against a stone wall when it flashed upon us. We tested the method, retested it and then telephoned Mr. Edison's home. They told us he was unconscious. But I don't think he was. I think he fell asleep and sent the solution over to us by thought wave. Anyhow, synthetic rubber is commercially practicable. You'll have to get the details from Mr. Charles Edison. That's all I can say."

Members of the family, concentrated on the burial of the inventor, could not be reached this morning.

Pastor Analyzes Religious Trends

Dr. S. E. Irvine Tells Lions Of Its Significant Progress

"That whether our modern civilization—a changing one—stands or falls, depends fundamentally upon the degree to which the great principles taught by the Master find embodiment in our own lives," Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the local First U. P. church, declared in closing his scholarly summary of "The Modern Trends of Religion" at the city's Lions club luncheon on Tuesday.

Dr. Irvine, analyzing every present-day religious trend, spoke of four of the more prominent developments and traced their origin in an interesting way. Dr. Irvine was introduced by Dr. G. S. Bennett, First Christian church pastor, chairman of the club's program committee.

Facts Don't Change.

"There is a good bit of ignorance and loose thinking today in regard to religious trends," said Dr. Irvine, "and it would seem as if those who dwell upon these forget that while essential facts do not change, our ways of looking at them do.

"Religion does not move in the realm of scientific truth, and no instrument of science can measure the courage, honor or the degree of faith that a man might have. All fundamental values are beyond the reach of scientific measurement, and certainly religion is a fundamental value."

The minister asserted a second tendency is for us to believe "our creeds and religious philosophies are tentative and not absolute or exact." He explained that a large portion of church differences originate over the different ways we look upon creeds.

More Accept Bible.

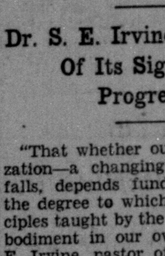

There is a marked change in the views modern people have of the Bible, it was said. People are accepting it more and more and are turning to it for spiritual support.

Dr. Irvine said there is "a marked movement in the direction of Christ," and that men at sea insofar as religious philosophies are concerned are being self-directed to God. The chaotic element is more and more setting God out in bold relief in accepting Him in these times.

The club heartily endorsed the benefit autumn revue which school children of the city will dramatize in the senior high school auditorium on October 22 and 23. Dr. Bennett asked the club to support the Community Chest.

Tentative plans for an evening meeting with the Ladies of the Lions scheduled for November 17, were discussed. A noted speaker will be a guest that night.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Harrisburg, Pa. —"A few years ago we had much sickness, my husband was very sick, my mother was old and feeble and about that time my son was taken down. All these troubles caused me to have a nervous breakdown," said Mrs. Martha Althouse of 1403 Regina St. "A relative, a druggist, advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was nervous, weak and rundown, my appetite failed and I couldn't sleep at night. I took three bottles of the 'Discovery' and then I felt like doing my work again, slept better and my nervousness disappeared." All druggists sell

Pale Tomatoes Just In Vogue

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—The federal pure food and drug administration today notified housewives if they should find some canned tomatoes "slightly pale" this winter not to be alarmed.

The unusual season and unfavorable weather caused the tomatoes to be slightly off color, the government said, but not sufficient so as to prevent them from being labeled as "standards."

Canneries in Kentucky, Southern and Central Indiana, Central and Eastern Tennessee and practically all of Ohio put up some of the "pale faces."

WHAT A PROBLEM

The cubist-artist was showing his friend over his studio.

"See that painting there," he said. "The gentleman whose portrait it is has asked me to alter his nose a little."

His friend gazed wonderingly at the portrait.

"I suppose that makes you rather cross?" he said.

The cubist hunched his shoulders in despair

Portersville Woman Seeking Damages For Burned Barn

Contractor Who Had Tools Stored In Barn Is Defendant In Suit

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 21.—Financial redress for a barn and 10 tons of hay which were destroyed at her property in Portersville about two years ago is sought by Mrs. Emeline Scheidemantle, aged 68, in a trespass suit that went to trial today in civil court. Visiting Judge William M. Parker of Venango county is presiding in the case.

Mrs. Scheidemantle resides on Main street, Portersville, which is also a part of the Perry highway, while the defendant, H. W. Baldwin, a contractor, resides in Ohio.

Baldwin in 1929 entered into a contract with the State Highway Department to pave a part of the highway past the Scheidemantle premises in Muddycreek township, and rented storage space in a barn belonging to Mrs. Scheidemantle for storing tools and machinery he had shipped to Portersville to use on the road job.

The cattle barn in which the machinery was stored was built in 1904, largely from material taken from the farm and was provided with stalls for cattle and sheep, while the upper part of the structure was used for hay.

In early December employes of the defendant were working in the barn. A son of the defendant's foreman was removing gasoline from a tractor, it is alleged, when he preceeded to light a cigaret and in doing so accidentally ignited the gas which soon enveloped the barn in flames, causing its complete desturction.

Mrs. Scheidemantle charges the loss of her barn and its contents to the alleged carelessness of the defendant's employes.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

One of the older congregations among the churches of this city is that of the Primitive Methodist church on South Mill street. It had its inception here about seventy-four years ago. When the church was organized it had a membership of but six members. A small church was erected at a cost of about $1,300. During the erection of the church, services were held in the home of William Nightengale. The members were Thomas Kimberly, Henry Blues, William Blues, Charles Boals, Samuel Simon and Bryan Teech. A Sabbath School was organized and the work started. The church was constructed on South Jefferson street. It was a two story structure and was constructed of brick. It was considered one of the best two story structures in the city when constructed. The congregation worshiped in this building for many years and then decided to build a new church, which was done in 1901. This was located on South Mill street. This church is still in use by the congregation and is one of the nicest church structures in the city today. The original church of this congregation was located on the present site of St. Vitus Catholic church, and was located at the corner of South Jefferson and Maitland streets.

WHY NOT MAJORITY RULE?

The defeated candidate who sets up his own personal desires above the will and judgment of the thousands who voted at the Primaries in which he participated, by later announcing on an unsponsored independent ticket, attacks our "majority rule" form of government adopted by our forefathers, and advocated by our great men of the past and present. To this form of government we attribute the success of this nation, as the most prosperous and greatest of the age.

Why encourage the destroying of it?

Constable Edwards Is Home From West

He And His Wife Had A Most Enjoyable Time In The Pacific Coast Region

William J. Edwards and wife of Hillsville, the former the well known genial constable of that district, have just arrived home from a six weeks trip to Pacific Coast points and report a most enjoyable time.

On their way west, they traveled over the Sante Fe and returning traveled by the Northwestern route. Constable Edwards states that as they were enroute west through the desert and needles of Arizona that the temperature registered 127 in the coach in which they were traveling.

Fishing is excellent on the Pacific Coast, according to Constable Edwards, at least it was as far as he was concerned and he got some real fish at Long Beach, the largest being a Yellow Tail and weighing 24½ pounds.

Constable Edwards reports that he is feeling extra fine, due to the fact that he has been having a vacation and also the fact that he reduced to the extent of twenty-five pounds while away and feels glad and anxious to get back on the job.

Vets Plan For Armistice Day

Will Take Part In Big Celebration Being Arranged At Sharon

Plans for the participation in the big Armistice Day celebration at Sharon, under the auspices of the Shenango Valley Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be made at the meeting of the Harry L. McBride Post this evening.

The celebration is a Tri-County affair, and is held in New Castle every third year. Last year, the celebration here was a most successful one, and was attended by thousands of World War veterans from the district.

The Sharon Post is making plans for the occasion and should have equally as many veterans present for the coming celebration.

AUTOIST IS FREED IN GIRL'S DEATH

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 21.—Columbiana County Coroner Ernest R. Sturgis yesterday exonerated Leo Wilson, grocery clerk, whose automobile struck and killed Betty Coleman, six, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Coleman, in front of the Grant street school here Monday. Sturgis rendered "an unavoidable accident" verdict after an inquest in which witnesses testified that the child, playing after the noon dismissal of school, ran against the front wheel of the Wilson car after darting from behind a parked auto.

EAGER TO TELL ABOUT HER STOMACH

"I want to tell others about my experience with Pape's Diapepsin," says Mrs. B. Eastman, 1200 California St., Denver, Colo. "I tried a lot of things for my indigestion, but none of them did any good. Then a friend persuaded me to take a few tablets of this wonderful preparation.

"Now I even eat cabbage without any distress afterwards. It used to cause real suffering. I am not nearly so nervous as I used to be; feel much stronger and better in every way."

A medicine must have real merit to bring forth enthusiastic statements like this. And when not one, but hundreds, even thousands, are telling the same story of success, there seems no reason to doubt the day-in and day-out reliability of Pape's Diapepsin to help stomach sufferers.

These harmless, candy-like tablets relieve the heartburn, nausea, gas, belching, headaches, dizziness and other symptoms of indigestion.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

"What-a-Pair" Go Theatrical

Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy-Hudson and "What-a-Man" Hudson will soon start on their four-week tour with a vaudeville circuit in which they will give a comedy drama, "Ma" and her new husband taking the leading parts. Here's "What-a-Man" assisting "Ma" with her make-up in a Los Angeles theatre before they go out to make their bow before the footlights.

A King and His Court

Surrounded by as charming and appreciative a court as any monarch ever could command, the "King of Swat" is shown autographing baseballs for a bevy of kiddies at the Los Angeles Children's Clinic. Babe Ruth doesn't get as much fun out of hitting four-baggers as he does bringing joy into the hearts of unfortunate children.

Throngs Mourn Passing of Master

Shortly after news of the passing of Thomas A. Edison, grand old master of the inventive world, was flashed to a waiting world, mourning friends, neighbors and admirers gradually grew in numbers outside the home of the beloved genius in Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J. Here is a part of the throng as it waited patiently for an opportunity to view the body in the laboratory.

Gives Party Lead

Thomas R. Amlie (above), 34-year-old attorney of Racine, Wis., whose election to Congress from the First Wisconsin District to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Henry Allen Cooper gives the Republicans 215 members in the House, as against 214 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. There are five vacancies at present.

Who's Her Hubby?

There seems to be considerable doubt as to whom Aida Marie Polo (above), 22-year-old Los Angeles showgirl, married. A Detroit dispatch says John Hopper, 27, who describes himself as a millionaire Boise, Idaho, rancher, married the pretty stage girl. And from Boise comes word that Mrs. Angela Hopper, City Clerk of the city, is being kept busy denying that her son, Johnny, 19, is any millionaire or ranch owner.

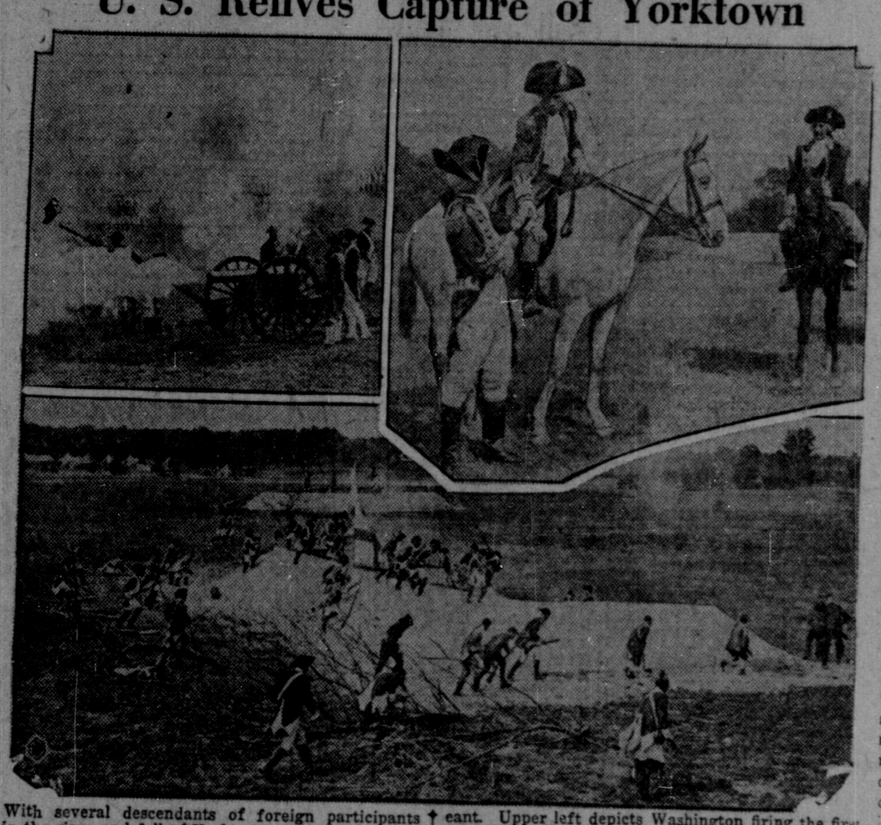

WANTS U. S. WOMEN'S VIEWPOINT

Lucien Lelong

Lucien Lelong, distinguished French couturier, who writes for Central Press, is in the United States to get the American women's attitude toward Paris styles. He wants to know to what extent they have adopted 'em, and in what manner.

U. S. Relives Capture of Yorktown

With several descendants of foreign participants in the siege and fall of Yorktown, 150 years ago, in attendance, and the site of the historic surrender of Lord Cornwallis to General Washington the mecca for thousands of Americans, this country has been reliving the gallant capture of the Virginia town in a colorful pageant commemorating the victory which gave the colonies their freedom. These pictures portray major events in the historic pageant. Upper left depicts Washington firing the first gun in the attack on the British ramparts. Photo in upper right shows Colonel O'Hare, representing Lord Cornwallis, turning over the sword of the British general to Colonel Lincoln, representing George Washington. To the right is Washington as he witnessed the epochal surrender. Lower picture shows American colonials attacking the earthworks thrown up by the British.

He'll Thaw Credits

Frozen credits of the nation almost exclusively will occupy the attention of George M. Reynolds, Chicago banker, during the next few months. He is the chairman of the half-billion-dollar credit organization provided for in President Hoover's plan for thawing out frozen credits in the banks of the nation. Reynolds declined the portfolio of secretary of the treasury in President Taft's 1909 cabinet.

Sables and Velvet

Sables and velvet is the luxurious combination used to make this afternoon wrap for the young matron. It is the longer type wrap designed for formal wear.

Honor Stagg for Long Record

Marking his fortieth year as coach of the University of Chicago football team, Alonzo A. Stagg (right), was singularly honored at the Chicago-Yale game when he was presented with a "C" blanket with 40 stars, one for each year of service. The "Grand Old Man of the Midway," as Stagg is known, seems bowed by sentiment as the blanket is given to him just before the grid game between the team he coaches and his alma mater. Yale won 27-0.

Potent Factor

Stanley Baldwin, Conservative party leader and Lord President of the Council in the National Government of Great Britain, gave the photographer an excellent portrait study of himself as he leaned out the window of his railway compartment, with Mrs. Baldwin, en route from London to Birmingham, the district he represents in Parliament.

Nose to Nose in Dead Heat

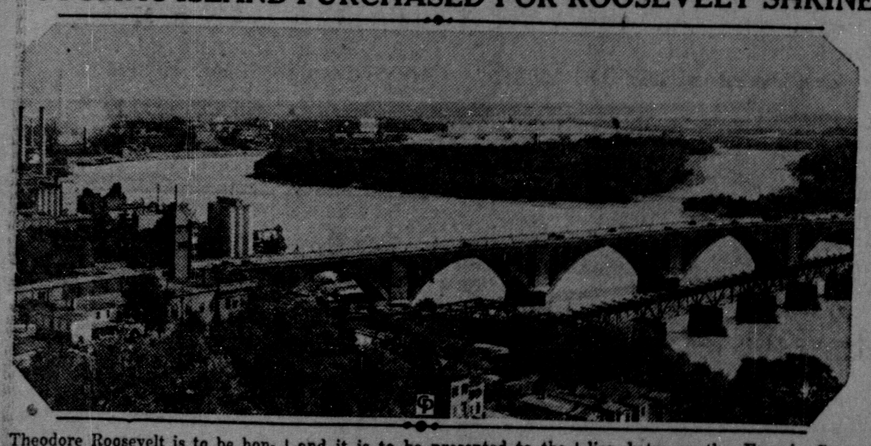

In the first race run at the Jamaica, L. I., track the other day occurred that most unusual of race track scenes, a dead heat. "Sir Jonathan" (on the rail) and "Oil Queen" are shown finishing nose to nose. It was the first dead heat since the opening of the 1930 season when "Mate" and "Marchion" tied, at the Aqueduct, N. Y., track.

TRIPLETS AND TWINS ARRIVE WITHIN A WEEK

POTOMAC ISLAND PURCHASED FOR ROOSEVELT SHRINE

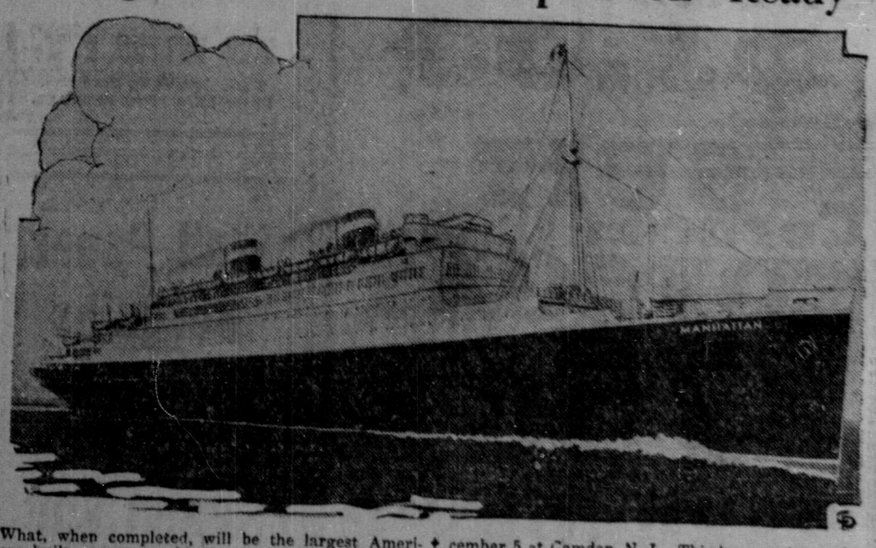

Theodore Roosevelt is to be honored by a unique memorial, an island in the Potomac river, at Washington, D. C. Analostan island, above, has been purchased by the Roosevelt Memorial association of which James R. Garfield is president, for $364,000, and it is to be presented to the nation to be used as a public park. Bridges are to connect it with the mainland and eventually a monumental structure will be erected. It contains 80 acres and has a heavy growth of timber which lends picturesqueness. The island lies between the Francis Scott Key Memorial bridge, shown in the foreground, and the new $14,500,000 Lincoln Memorial bridge which connects the Mall, at the Lincoln Memorial, with Arlington National cemetery, Mount Vernon boulevard and Lee highway.

CITY HALL IS OLD LOG CABIN

Pioneer days are brought to the minds of citizens of Mena, Ark., every time they pass their city hall since the structure is a log cabin, built of pine logs, in 1851. It once was a rest camp for those who made the tedious journey on the military road between Fort Smith and Texarkana. Mena is said to be only incorporated city in the United States to transact its official business in a log cabin. The old oaken door still swings on wooden hinges, but the original clapboard roof has been replaced by a stronger on

Largest U. S.-Built Ship Soon Ready

What, when completed, will be the largest American-built passenger ship in the world is shown as she will appear when steaming proudly over the Atlantic. It is the S. S. Manhattan, of the United States Lines, and its launching has been set for December 5 at Camden, N. J. This huge and luxurious liner, the first vessel for the North Atlantic trade to be constructed in America since 1897, will start its maiden voyage from New York in early Spring. 705 feet long, the ship displaces 32,000.

TRIPLETS AND TWINS ARRIVE WITHIN A WEEK

POTOMAC ISLAND PURCHASED FOR ROOSEVELT SHRINE

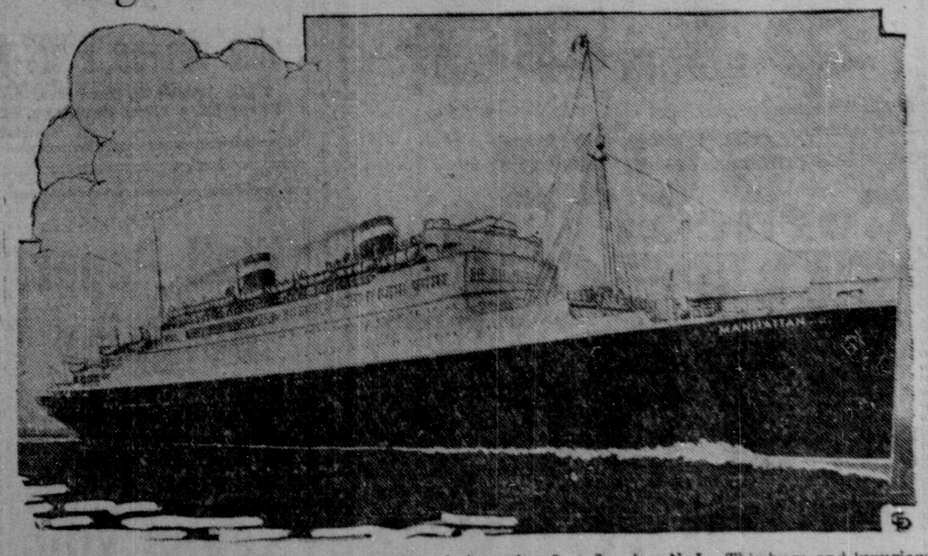

Theodore Roosevelt is to be honored by a unique memorial, an island in the Potomac river, at Washington, D. C. Analostan island, above, has been purchased by the Roosevelt Memorial association of which James R. Garfield is president, for $364,000, and it is to be presented to the nation to be used as a public park. Bridges are to connect it with the mainland and eventually a monumental structure will be erected. It contains 80 acres and has a heavy growth of timber which lends picturesqueness. The island lies between the Francis Scott Key Memorial bridge, shown in the foreground, and the new $14,500,000 Lincoln Memorial bridge which connects the Mall, at the Lincoln Memorial, with Arlington National cemetery, Mount Vernon boulevard and Lee highway.

CITY HALL IS OLD LOG CABIN

Pioneer days are brought to the minds of citizens of Mena, Ark., every time they pass their city hall since the structure is a log cabin, built of pine logs, in 1851. It once was a rest camp for those who made the tedious journey on the military road between Fort Smith and Texarkana. Mena is said to be only incorporated city in the United States to transact its official business in a log cabin. The old oaken door still swings on wooden hinges, but the original clapboard roof has been replaced by a stronger on

Largest U. S.-Built Ship Soon Ready

What, when completed, will be the largest American-built passenger ship in the world is shown as she will appear when steaming proudly over the Atlantic. It is the S. S. Manhattan, of the United States Lines, and its launching has been set for December 5 at Camden, N. J. This huge and luxurious liner, the first vessel for the North Atlantic trade to be constructed in America since 1897, will start its maiden voyage from New York in early Spring. 705 feet long, the ship displaces 32,000.

Steel And Iron Buying May Take Flurry Result Of Freight Rate Ruling

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's decision permitting limited freight rate increases on certain commodities, including steel, pig iron, scrap, machinery, iron ore, coal and coke overshadows in importance other developments in the metal-working industries this week, according to the weekly Iron Age summary to be released tomorrow.

Proposed increases are 2 cents per 100 pounds on steel, $6 per car on pig iron and scrap, $3 on iron ore, coal and coke and $10 on machinery, and other metal products. Whether these advances are sufficient to influence buyers generally to abandon their extreme caution and lay in some stocks before the new rates take effect, and whether the railroads themselves will become more liberal in their steel and equipment orders are questions that cannot be answered at this early date, but it is expected that some business stimulation will result, the magazine said.

Broadening Of Demands

There are scattered indications of a slight broadening in demands for steel, this summary points out, coupled with reports of visible improvement in the business of some metal-working manufacturers, but the aggregate of these new requirements is not sufficient to offset the small demands from lines that normally account for the heaviest consumption of steel. Consequently steel ingot production is still lower this week at 28 per cent of capacity. The falling off is partly accounted for by completion of pipe orders and a slackening of tin plate output.

The Iron Age composite prices for pig iron and steel scrap have reached new lows, the former at $15.17 a gross-ton, compared with $15.34 a week ago, and the latter at $8.75 a ton against $8.83 last week.

Miami To Remain Racing Capital

Voters At Miami Favor Retaining City As National Winter Racing Capital

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 21.—Miami today appeared assured of continuing as the nation's winter capital for racing for some time.

Dog and horse racing, with parimutuel betting, was apparently upheld by a large majority vote in the local option referendum held in Dade county and a few others. In the former, six tracks, three for horses, and three for dogs, were favored in the voting according to incomplete returns. In some cases, the vote was 10 to 1 for racing.

Expenditure of $3,000,000 was foreseen in consequence of the vote. Tracks were to be constructed as soon as all returns were in and the vote officially counted. It was also predicted Miami's winter season would be lengthened by two months.

STATUE TO "PLAIN COWBOY"

(International News Service)

BALLINGER, Tex.—Ballinger has what is said to be the only statue ever erected to a "plain cowboy". The statue stands on the courhouse lawn. It is a life-size bronze figure of a tall, brawny youth in boots, spurs and hat, standing beside his pony. August Noyes had the statue made in honor of his son, Charles H. Noyes, who was thrown from his pony and killed in 1915. The statue lacks the fancy trimmings of the show cowboys, such as chaps and gun. Instead it represents the Texas cowboy as he actually appeared at his daily work on the Texas plains.

Valuable Textbooks Destroyed By Fire

Large Truck Carrying Books Valued At $175,000 Burns Up On Lincoln Highway

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 21.—Ashes and charred paper were all that remained today of a shipment of textbooks, said to be valued at $175,000, which was destroyed by fire near here after the truck that was hauling them burst into flames.

Joseph and Frank Frye, of Chicago, in charge of the truck, were transferring the books, owned by the American Book Company, from Chicago to Bloomfield, N. J.

OLD BOUNDARY LINE BOULDER UNCOVERED

HAMPTON, N. H., Oct. 21.—Eight feet deep in the sands of Hampton Beach a boulder that in 1657 was established as the boundary line between Hampton and Seabrook has been unearthed.

Old inhabitants recalled having seen the boulder as late as 1910. State and federal engineers are making a survey of coastal erosion, which in less than quarter of a century buried the marker as deep as pirates' treasure.

NEW ORLEANS BOASTS OF SPRINKLER SYSTEM

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 21.—In opening the world's largest fire protection installation on the docks here Gov. Huey P. Long inaugurated the most elaborate port fire alarm system yet devised. Each of 118,000 sprinkler heads, designed to function in half the time of the ordinary ones, not only notifies the land and marine fire-fighting depot, but either extinguishes the fire or holds it in check until other aid arrives.

Besides the sprinklers and alarms the wooden understructure of all wharves is divided into sections so that literally a "wall of water" falls on each side of a conflagration.

Using 200 miles of pipe to cover 26 miles of harbor frontage the combined action of the system can release a Niagara of over 2,000,000 gallons of water a minute.

Deaths Are Even Away Below Par

People Are Living Longer Due To Eating Of More Substantial Food

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—The economic depression has found its way even to cemeteries.

This was evident when it was revealed today that burials in the Fernwood cemetery, in Delaware county, have slumped recently. Only three burials in two days was declared way below par by an official of the cemetery. He attributed the apparent longer life of the people to eating more substantial food and eating it at home.

PAIR OF PANTS COVERS NUDITY OF ROOSTER

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 21.—Jeremiah became the most indignant rooster in all of Washington when he was forced to wear a pair of pants.

He was hit in the neck by an arrow shot by a youngster. He seemed to be dead, so his owner, Mrs. J. E. Winkley, began to dry pick him.

She had removed all of his tail feathers when he came back to life with a squawk and staggered into the yard.

His neck healed and Mrs. Winkley felt there was only one thing to do for poor, nude Jeremiah—make him a pair of pants.

STUDENTS ASSUME NURSEMAID'S ROLE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—This depression is sharpening the minds of landladies, so several of the students attending the University of Toronto have discovered to their sorrow.

Shoveling snow and coal, attending to furnaces and working around the house is not unuscual in return for room and board, but this year a new game has been instituted, and it is called, "minding babies." Two or three evenings week, so several of the students have reported, their landladies go out to play bridge and in their absence, the student roomers have to mind the babies.

Lights Out As Edison Tribute

Genius Of Edison To Receive Unique Tribute In U. S. Tonight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—"Lights out!"

These words will be heard tonight in millions of homes, office buildings, stores and factories in the cities, towns and hamlets of the nation.

And millions upon millions of electric lights will wink out in tribute to the genius of the man who gave the incandescent light to the world, Thomas A. Edison.

By proclamation of President Hoover the lights will be turned off for one minute simultaneously throughout the length and breadth of the land. The hour is 10 p. m., eastern standard time, 9 p. m. central time, 8 p. m. mountain time and 7 p. m. Pacific time.

One minute before the hour the entire nation will be warned to stand by through that other modern medium of thought transference to which Edison contributed so much, the radio. Over the networks of the broadcasting companies the programs will be suspended and the voice of an announcer will be heard in loudspeakers from the Atlantic to the Pacific:

"Stand by for the single tap of a gong."

When that mellow tone is heard the myriad lights will wink out.

Parents Should Help Police And School Employes

Suggested That Children Should Not Go To School Until Nearer Time

The police, and school teachers and janitors make every effort to look after the safety of the school children attending the various schools of the city, but the children are making the work more difficult than necessary, according to Chief of Police C. C. Horner, because of the fact that they are either being sent or come earlier at both the morning and afternoon sessions than is really necessary.

The result is that they are depriving the police officers and those teachers and janitors, who have been looking after their safety at the street crossings adjacent to the various schools, of their lunches at the noon hour and in the morning are appearing at the schools before the officers, teachers and janitors have time to take up that line of work properly.

It is the suggestion of Chief Horner that parents would cooperate very much with the police department and the school authorities, if they would see to it that their children start in plenty of time, but not too early, especially at the noon hour, as it will mean better protection of their children and much in the matter of convenience to those who have the matter of their safety in charge. This is especially true where the children reside within a comparatively short distance of the schools.

Bedding Needed For Unemployed

Many Resquests For Bed Coverings Are Made To Associated Charities

Many families in New Castle are sadly in need of bed coverings, it was stated at the Associated Charities today, and an appeal is launched by that organization for such articles.

With the approach of colder weather, many people are without proper protection, and as colder weather approaches, there is bound to be suffering.

Any persons having bed clothing that is usable are asked to bring it to the Associated Charities, 8½ East street or to call 5084 and the articles will be called for.

FOSSIL BEDS FOUND IN WESTERN NEBRASKA

SIDNEY, Neb., Oct. 21—New, rich fossil beds have been discovered in western Nebraska by a party of investigators working near here and at Bridgeport during the summer months.

Fields located here and at Bridgeport are reported to be particularly productive by C. B. Schultz, leader of the excavation party.

Work done this year was primary, Schultz said, but resulted in discovery of valuable oligocene beds. Two members of the party digging near here, unearthened a mastodon skull prehistoric rhinoceros, camel, turtle and evidences of a rare three-toed horse. The party will return to this location next year to further develop this bed.

One of the most important finds ever made in Nebraska was reported from near Bridgeport where the jaw of an amphibian was unearthed.

North Side W.C.T.U. Has Meeting Tuesday

Rev. J. A. King Aids In An Interesting Discussion Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—There were 15 members and five visitors present at the regular meeting of the North Side W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Mary Matheny on the Wampum road last night.

The meeting was an unusually interesting and entertaining event. After the business meeting, Rev. J. A. King an honorary member of the society in a short talk emphasized two important phases of the Temperance question. These were: "Are the Dangers of Alcohol and Tobacco in the Human System, Being Taught in the Public Schools as They Were," the argument, "That Bringing Back of the Saloon Would Restore Prosperity, Be Intelligently Combatted." Both subjects received quite a bit of discussion by those present.

After the meeting a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess and her committee.

The next meeting of the Temperance Union will be at the home of Mrs. W. K. Ramsey of Hazel avenue on the third Tuesday of November. Mrs. Charles Boggs will be in charge at the time.

Mrs. Northrop Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.— Mrs. Donald Northrop opened her home on Lawrence avenue last night for the pleasure of the members of the Modern Bridge Club and two special guests, Miss Grayce Harris, and Mrs. Helen McBride. The home was appointedly decorated with beautiful fall flowers.

Bridge was the principal pastime of the evening with three tables at play. Miss Josephine Humphrey and Miss Agnes Weiskopf were presented the first and second awards for club members at the conclusion of the games. Miss Harris received the guest favor.

A dainty luncheon was served later in the evening by the hostess, much to the pleasure of those present.

The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Gladys Anderson on Seventh street.

Mrs. Charles Will Speak Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21— Mrs. Catherine M. Charles, librarian of the Ellwood City public library will address members of the Pennsylvania library association meeting here tonight for their thirty-first annual conference on the operations of small public libraries, it was announced today.

Tomorrow, members of the association are scheduled to visit libraries at Aliquippa, Ambridge and Sewickley, designated by the organization as "model" small libraries.

John Macy, noted critic, will speak to the association at its annual banquet tomorrow.

DINNER FOR HOUSE GUESTS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21—As a courtesy to their house guests, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. McDanel of Watkins Glen, N. Y., who are a bride and groom of last month, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDanel of the Ellwood-Zelienople road entertained at a family dinner at their home last evening.

At six o'clock the guests were ushered into the dining room where they were served a delicious menu consisting of several courses. Mrs. McDanel had as her aides, her daughter, Miss Gladys. The table as well as the home were artistically adorned with fall flowers and autumn leaves making a pretty setting.

Covers were arranged for Mrs. Artie McDanel and Miss Byrd McDanel of this city, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McDanel and daughter Janet of Ewing Park, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McDanel of the Country Club, Lewis McDanel of the Ellwood-Zelienople road, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McCullough of Renfrew and the honor guests.

The after dinner hours were spent informally with music and reminiscences.

Rev. McDanel is a former resident of this city being the son of Mrs. Artie McDanel of Sixth street, and a brother of the host and is at present engaged in the Baptist ministry at Watkins Glen.

WILLING WORKERS CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21—Mrs. J. E. Caughey entertained the members of the Willing Worker's Class of the Wurtemburg United Presbyterian church last evening at the parsonage.

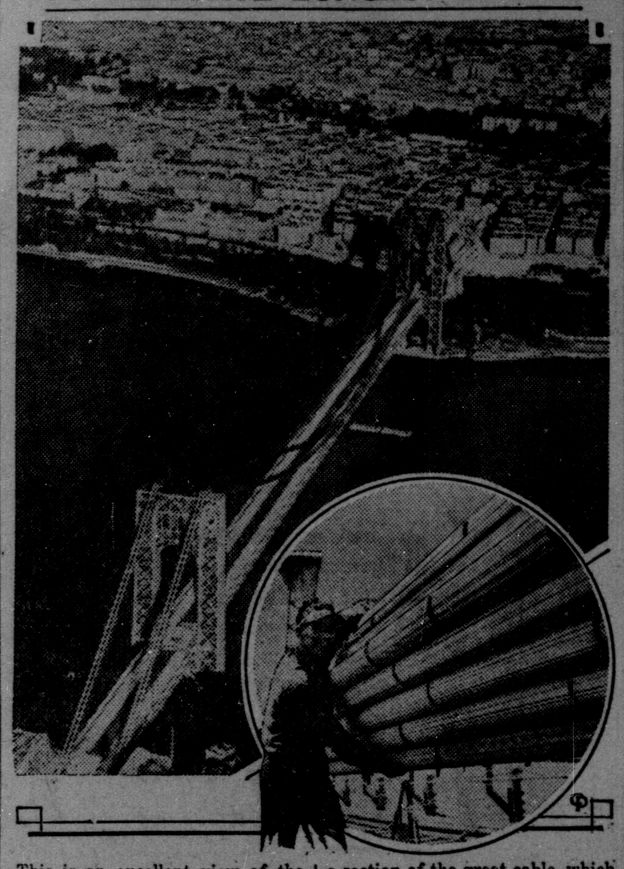

Mrs. Jacob Glasser, who is teacher of the class, led the devotional period, while Mrs. Victor Koach presided at the business session. The class decided to sell wax paper to raise money.

Concluding the session a social hour was held with games and contests being the main features. Mrs. J. E. Caughey won the Bible reading contest and Mrs. W. L. Timblim won the apple guessing contest.

A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her daughter Miss Elizabeth. Hallowe'en tones predominated throughout in the decorations.

Those attending were Mrs. Victor Koach, Mrs. James Hazen, Mrs. Harry Hazen, Mrs. Harry Wimer, Mrs. Donald Hepler, Mrs. W. L. Timblim, Mrs. Jacob Glasser and the hostess. Miss Amy Ketler and Miss Maize Falen were special guests.

TO DEDICATE LONGEST BRIDGE

This is an excellent view of the George Washington Memorial bridge, over the Hudson river, from Washington Heights, Manhattan, to Fort Lee, N. J., to be officially opened on Oct. 24. It was built as a cost of nearly $60,000,000 and is considered a marvel of engineering genius. Inset, a section of the great cable, which is made up of 26,474 wires in bundles or strands of 434 wires each. The 3500-foot span between towers is twice that of the longest suspension span constructed heretofore, that of the Delaware river bridge, between Philadelphia and Camden.

Women's Club Hear Mrs. E. H. McCauley

Noted Woman Speaker Points Out Facts In The World's Daily Politics

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—"Women's Place in Political Life" was the subject thoroughly discussed before an attendance of 75 of the members of the Women's club of this city at the Ellwood City Country club, Tuesday afternoon, by Mrs. E. H. McCauley, one of the state's outstanding women.

The speaker explained to those present how important it is for every women to take her part in politics and to aid in securing the best people for public offices. Mrs. McCauley pointed out some highlights in her work with the state recently.

Mrs. McCauley was the director of the State Department of Welfare during Governor Fisher's administration and has recently attended the White House Child Welfare conference and the International Mental Hygiene conference. She told of the important part women played in each of these.

The speaker has had varied experience in civic, educational and political life and spoke with authority on her chosen subject. She was president of the Beaver Education association which maintained kindergartens in the Beaver public schools for a period. For six years she was chairman of annual fair given for the benefit of the Beaver County Children's home and chairman of the Beaver County Liberty loan during the war. She was the first woman in Pennsylvania to be president of the Pennsylvania State School Directors association. At present Mrs. McCauley is a member of the executive committee of the State Republican committee.

The club quartet consisting of Mrs. R. J. Hawke, Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss, and Mrs. C. P. Cloak favored the audience with three vocal selections. A short business meeting preceded this. Decorations were carried out in autumn colors and were very striking.

Hostesses for the day were the Mesdames Rae Chambers, Thomas Haines, George Fisher, T. B. Magee, and J. W. Humphrey. There were guests present on the occasion from New Castle, Beaver and Wampum.

The next meeting of the club will be held on November 10 and will be a Thanksgiving luncheon. Mrs. William Cosel will be the principal speaker on the occasion. Her subject will be "The World Peace Movement".

P. H. C. MEETS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.— A short business meeting inaugurated the semi-monthly gathering of the members of the P. H. C. last night in the Schweiger Hall. Routine matters were only transacted at the time. Following this a social time with cards and chat was enjoyed.

It was announced that the degree team of the Baird Circle will motor to Ambridge this evening to initiate a class of candidates.

The junior degree team will go to Sharon on November 6 to initiate a class of candidates at a Junior Rally. The rally will comprise four circles: Sharon, Grove City, New Castle, and Ellwood City.

Action Resulted When Pander And Segedie Fail To Report For Practice

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Ellwood City will be minus two of its performers when they tackle Aliquippa next Saturday it was revealed this morning.

Bill Pander, varsity halfback and Andy Segedie, promising backfield man were ordered to turn in their suits yesterday as a result of disobeying an order from head coach, Howard Gills.

Coach Gills had excused several players from practice Monday afternoon but had requested Segedie and Pander to report. Both had complained of injuries that were not apparent to Coach Gills, and failed to report for practice.

Nevertheless the practice went on without them Tuesday afternoon and proved to be rugged. A scrimmage was held in which everybody participated and another is scheduled for this afternoon. Coach Gills stated that the team lacks experience which can only be remedied by having more scrimmages. Blocking, tackling, and a pass defense will be stressed today. A little time will be placed on further developing Vanderillo and Luxenberg.

As a result of the action taken by Coach Gills, either Charley Frisk or Dick Wilson will be called upon to fill Pander's shoes and Dudick will probably take Segedie's. Pander was a splendid defensive back and will be missed. Coach Gills stated that any one else that does not show the proper attitude to the administration and the practices will be compelled to turn in his suit.

Ewing Park School Is Banner Winner

Has Best Attendance For Month Of September And Less Tardiness

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Ewing Park school is floating the attendance banner with the American flag outside the school as a result of having the best attendance for the month of September. Circle school equaled its attendance record of 99 per cent but Ewing Park had less tardiness and therefore won the banner. The remainder of the schools had the following percentage: North Side 93 per cent, Central 97, Hartman 98, West End 97 and Lincoln 96.

There is also a home room banner in each school.

Miss Betty Sowry Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21—Miss Betty Sowry delightfully entertained the members of her club at her home on Lawrence Ave. last night. There were six members present on the occasion and the home was prettily decorated in autumn colors.

Those present enjoyed the evening with cards at the conclusion of which Mrs. Jacob Boots and Miss Lillian Russell received the awards.

At an appointed hour the hostess served a delectable menu as the closing event of the meeting.

Mrs. Glen Hoffman will be hostess to the club on next Wednesday.

Take the ANXIETIES out of Winter Driving

WILL your winter driving be a constant series of distressing adventures? Will you go out to the garage in the morning wondering whether the car will start? Does it seem to read a "Welcome" sign on every service station?

If the answer to any or all of these questions is a mournful "Yes," why not take the only sure cure for your troubles and buy a new car? Can you afford those constant petty expenditures of money that probably would go a long way towards making the down payment on a new car?

And there are other reasons for buying a new car besides that of saving money and trouble. This new De Soto Six offers much more than you ever imagined could be had at the price.

There have been more than two-score basic betterments in the De Soto Six since the beginning of the year. Included in these improvements are such splendid features as Free Wheeling and an Easy-Shift Transmission with Silent Second. You never need touch the clutch in shifting from one forward speed to another in Free Wheeling. With the Easy-Shift Transmission you can shift in either direction between second and high at car speeds up to 45 miles an hour.

Altoona High Has Enviable Record

New Castle Opponents Have Lost Only 3 Games In Past Three Years

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh May Use Same Lineup As In Last Friday Game

Boasting an enviable record of 24 victories and 3 defeats in three years, Altoona high which meets New Castle at Taggart field Saturday afternoon has one of the smoothest football elevens in this state according to reports from Altoona. New Castle high fresh from its 38-0 victory over Woodward high is training diligently for the sixth tussle of the season. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Is Undefeated.

So far this season the visitors have rolled up an impressive record. Aside from being undefeated, Altoona has scored 276 points in five games against 13 for their opponents. These scores vindicate the offensive power of the "horseshoe district" representatives. Williamsburg fell before the attack of Altoona 60-0 this season with South of Pittsburgh taking a 33-6 trimming.

Bellefonte fell by the way side too. The score was 60-7. Altoona's fourth victim was Hollidaysburg 87-0 and only last Saturday Altoona ran up a 36-0 triumph over Lock Haven. After the showing the New Castle team made last Friday night against Woodward of Toledo, Ohio, many ardent followers of the Red and Black gridders believe that the locals should give Altoona a harder contest than any other opponent Altoona has played so far this season.

In 1930 Altoona concluded another successful season winning 9 names losing 2 and scoring 304 points to 33 for their opponents. Johnstown and Clearfield were the only teams to top Altoona by 13-0 scores.

New Castle's record does not shape up so well compared to the visitors. The Tin City ramblers have copped three games out of 5. Coraopolis, McKees Rocks and Woodward fell before the local representatives. Charleroi and Washington toppled the locals.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh may start the same lineup as last Friday night with J. Uram at quarterback, Rambo, James or Burns at halfbacks and Kominic at fullback. On the line, Ciccone and Nocera may be the ends, DeCarbo will be at center, Kazenski and Thomas a new pair of guards and Crisci and Mike at tackles. This combination worked well against Woodward.

Nick Uram, veteran quarterback who was laid up so far this season due to a broken collar bone saw action in one play against Woodward. Whether he will be able to play in the game is not known yet. Joe Wrona who was seen at fullback during the past four games has quit school. Joe Kolodjeski the local passing wizard is still laid up on account of an injury to his right hand. Harold Workman who was injured several weeks ago is still on the casualty list.

The remainder of the squad in good physical condition. The Red and Black cohorts may resort to that double pass which baffled the Ohioans time and again last week. After watching New Castle in action the Altoona squad predicted a win.

The advance sale of tickets for the games indicates that a big crowd will be on hand to watch the local gladiators in the first day game of the season. Tickets are on sale at the Sporting Goods Store. Altoona will bring a big delegation according to reports. This is the first time for Altoona to play here.

Erie East Will Play Jamestown In Charity Game

Game Will Be Played October 28 And Will Draw Perhaps 10,000 Crowd

(International News Service)

Both teams are undefeated and expect to play before 10,000 persons in Erie stadium. Half the proceeds from the game goes to each team to be turned over to charity in their respective towns.

Helen Wills And Cochet Top List Of World's Best

Ranking Of The Foremost Men And Women At Tennis

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Helen Wills Moody of California and Henri Cochet of France are ranked as the number one lawn tennis players of the world by A. Wallis-Myers, noted English lawn tennis writer, in his annual ranking list of the foremost men and women net stars.

Two United States women players, four English girls, two Germans, one Frenchwoman and one Spaniard form Wallis-Myers' selected band of ten women stars.

Of his ten male stars, five are Americans, two are Frenchmen, two Englishmen, ane a son of Nippon.

Wallis Myers classifies his women net experts as follows:

1. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody (United States).
2. Fraulein Aussem (Germany).
3. Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall (England).
4. Miss Helen Jacobs (United States.)
5. Miss Betty Nuthall (England.)
6. Fraulein Krahwinkel (Germany.)
7. Mme. Mathieu (France.)
8. Senorita de Alvarez (Spain.)
9. Miss Phyllis Mudford (England.)
10. Mrs. Putnam (England.)

The unconquerable Helen and Fraulein Aussem were classed first and second respectively in Wallis-Myers' 1930 list.

The male players are ranked in the following order:

1. Henri Cochet (France). 2. H. W. Austin (England). 3. E. Vines United States). 4. F. J. Perry (England). 5 F. X. Shields (United States). 6 S. H. Wood (United States). 7. Jean Borotra (France). 8 G. M. Lott (United States). 9 J. Satoh (Japan). 10. J. Van Ryn (United States).

Cochet heads the list for the fourth successive year.

Carnera-Uzcudun Bout Is Banned

New York Boxing Commission On Record Against Jack-Giant-Killer Bouts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The New York boxing commission today was on record against the so-called Jack-the-Giant-Killer business. The commissioners banned the proposed Primo Carnera-Paulino Uzcudun bout, scheduled for Madison Square Garden, announcing no smaller men would be permitted to fight the Italian giant.

The commissioners said the spectacle of a short, small fighter trying to reach Carnera's chin would not be repeated in New York.

FOOTBALL, THE REDUCER.
(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 21.—Here's the newest scheme for reducing and the entire Penn State football squad will attest its validity. In the game with the Lebanon Valley Teachers College the Nittany Lions of Penn State lost an average of eight pounds per man in avoirdupois. Captain Lasich and Tom Curry, who saw almost 60 minutes of action, dropped nine pounds apiece and the others melted away eight and one-half pounds each. The only reason is that it was a perfect day for golfing but a bit too tepid for anything so rough as football.

Secret Practices Are Good For Grid Teams

Fans Wonder What Goes On Behind Closed Doors Of Secret Practice Field

Business Of Scouting Teams Has Caused Switch In Plans Of Coaches

By EDDIE CASEY
Former All-American Halfback And Now Head Football Coach At Harvard

Written For And Copyrighted, 1931, By International News Service

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Secret practice is a term familiar to all fans who follow the destinies of their favorite football team during the fall months. Many persons wonder what mysterious things go on behind the walls or fences of the secret practice field, where the team is groomed to make its appearance each Saturday in games against the visiting colleges.

Some even object to all this secrecy and claim where there is secrecy there must be something underhanded going on, or at least some actions that would be criticized if seen by the general public.

Innocent Practice.

As a matter of fact, the inside of secret practice is just as innocent as the practice of any athletic team. In the great majority of cases the secret practice idea exists solely to prevent interruptions or interference with the work of the coaches.

Spectators hanging around distract the attention of the players by the very fact that they are watching and often these spectators will actually interfere with the practice by talking to players or getting in the way.

Every college coach today is fully aware that his team is being scouted in every game and he knows that his plays will not be effective unless they are tried in games. Hence, he knows that his rival coach knows all that he is going to show in their game, except possibly a play or two that often a smart scout will figure on that team using beacuse of the plays that they have already shown. Hence, the smart coach will almost offer to show his rivals his plays and then figure on beating them by better execution.

Must Concentrate.

Furthermore, players must concentrate every minute that they are out on the field if they hope to get the most out of practice, and coaches have now shortened their sessions to the point where they must use every minute of the season to teach all that they desire. One coach of my acquaintance posts a notice on the bulletin board for his squad, telling them how many minutes are available each day before the end of the season, and calls his whole season a race against time. In such a race any outside diversions will hurt the development of the team.

From all of the above, it might appear that the practice behind the fence was all serious business, but ask any boy who has gone through a season and he will tell you many a story of the fun that went on behind the sign of secret practice. In fact, the boy who likes football enjoys every minute that he is in togs and especially the time that he is in scrimmage.

Rockne Memorial Services Planned For College Fields

Saturday, November 14, Is Designated As Rockne Memorial Day At All Stadiums

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A memorial service between halves at every college football game will be held November 14 in tribute to Knute Rockne, Coach "Chick" Meehan of New York University announced today. Meehan is chairman of the coaches committee for observance of Rockne Day.

Spectators at the games will be given a chance to contribute to the fund for the Rockne Memorial field house at Notre Dame.

Shenango High Meets Tough Foe

Bessemer-Shenango High Grid Game Tops List Here Friday Afternoon

Eyes in the Class B high school football race in Lawrence county will be focused upon Shenango field where the strong Shenango high football team will oppose Bessemer high Friday afternoon. The game starts at 3:30 o'clock.

In disposing of Mercer last week on a soggy field the East New Castle eleven made an impressive showing despite the fact that the weather was anything but football weather. Coach Pop Johnston's Blue and Gold proteges are rolling up a good record at East New Castle. Starting off with a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Zelienople, Shenango has not lost a contest since.

The Ellwood City Reserves, Clintonville and Mercer were the foes to fall by the wayside. Shenango also holds a 7-7 tie with Slippery Rock high. One of the best games played at East New Castle is anticipated, Friday.

Sacred Hearts Meet All Stars

Sacred Hearts Prepare For Second League Tussle With New Castle All Stars

The Sacred Hearts football team turns its thoughts to next Saturday afternoon when it takes the field against the strong New Castle All Stars on the George Washington field in a regular Independent grid tilt.

The All Stars demonstrated strength by holding the Williams to a 7-0 count. The Hearts encountered a tough nut in the DeHarts last Saturday. Although the Hearts won by a 7-0 score they were extended. The Sacred Hearts lineup consists of seven high school stars. Tip Richards, Frank Leonard, Mike DiThomas, Harlan Mooney and Mike DeMuccio played with New Castle high while Sam Chill and Tony Delone are former Union high gridders.

Frankie Frisch Is Given Honor

Committee Of Baseball Writers Vote St. Louis Player As Most Valuable

By GARRY SCHUMACHER
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Frankie Frisch has been voted the "most valuable" player in the National league by a committee of baseball writers, and the news will probably be more gratifying to the "Fordham Flash" when he hears of it in far-off Japan, even if the award comes a year late.

Frankie was the outstanding ball player in the league a year ago, but the committee awarded the palm to "Hack" Wilson because the hammered-down giant fashioned 56 home runs.

Award Is Late.

This year "Hack" didn't score more than 56 runs all told, while Frisch went on to lead the Cardinals to another championship.

As a matter of fact Frisch was a better player and more valuable to his team in 1930 than during the past season. The hitting of Hafey and Bottomley and the presence of Paul Derringer on the pitching staff made possible the comparatively easy pennant victory achieved by the Red Birds last month.

In 1930, though, Frisch's presence at second base was all that enabled the Cards to sneak home. All the other contenders for the flag—Brooklyn, New York and Chicago—were weak at second base. Frisch could have won it for any one of the four teams, and did win it for St. Louis.

FIGHT RESULTS

(International News Service)

AT PORTLAND, Me.—Joe Zelinsky, Boston middleweight, knocked out Henry Goldberg, New York, (10).

AT NEW YORK—Jerry Granton, New York middleweight, defeated Joe Morrow, New York, (8).

COLLEGE GRID NEWS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Captain Ernie Concannon, husky New York university tackle, will play against Colgate on Saturday. He has been injured for more than a week.

PHILADELPHIA—Bill Graupner will probably pilot the Penn eleven on Saturday against Wisconsin. Onderdonk, San Antonio, Texas, youth, may start in the backfield.

NEW HAVEN—Yale was to indulge in secret practice in Yale bowl today. The only real scrimmage of the week was expected. Eddie Rotan, veteran guard, was expected to turn out for drill today and play against Army on Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE—Moushegian, star Harvard end, is still stiff from injuries received in the Army game last week and may not be used against Texas, it was reported today. Nazro worked in his place yesterday as the Crimson rehearsed its attack in a long dummy scrimmage.

EVANSTON, Ill.—A cheery atmosphere pervaded Northwestern's practice field today. Two of the injured Wildcat stars were back in the thick of things and a third returned for light workout. Pug Pentner and Ollie Olson assumed their regular backfield berths, while Reb Russell, husky fullback, appeared ni uniform for the first time in nearly two weeks. Northwestern meets Ohio State Saturday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Dee De Baker may have a regular spot on Michigan's backfield in Saturday's game with Illinois, it was indicated today. The lad ran riot against the freshmen in yesterday's scrimmage, carrying the ball over for three touchdowns.

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—Coach Hunk Anderson has begun to drill his fighting Irish to the end of stopping as many Pittsburgh plays as his scouts have been able to detect. Pittsburgh is Notre Dame's opponent for Saturday. Notre Dame's backfield during the last practice session consisted of Leahy at full, Jaskwich at quarter, Koken at left half and Cronin at right half.

CHICAGO—Pete Zimmer, fullback, was out of the University of Chicago practice lineup today because of an injured scalp. He was seated on the helmet cart when the support was suddenly removed and he fell. Captain Sam Horwitz watched the Maroons from the sidelines, still nursing hurts received in last Saturday's game wtih Yale. Chicago tackles Indiana next Saturday.

DANIELS LOSES TO ROSENBLOOM

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21.— Maxie Rosenbloom was more secure than ever on his light heavyweight throne today as the result of his seven-round knockout victory here last night over Dick Daniels, local battler. The kayo wallop was a right swing delivered suddenly and unexpectedly as the two boxers stood battling on even terms.

HERE'S ALTOONA HIGH AVALANCHE

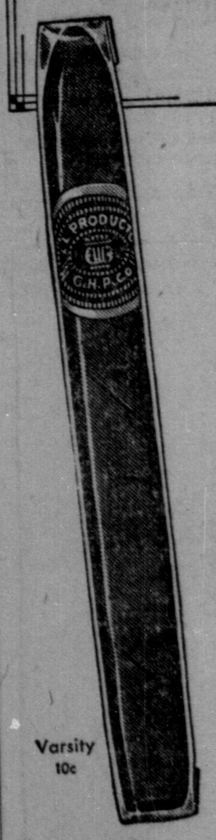

ALTOONA HIGH BACKFIELD

Pictured above—Altoona high school's "Big Four" and a fifth who will oppose the New Castle high eleven at Taggarr field Saturday afternoon. It is this combination of backfield men behind a strong line that has compiled an enviable record of five victories and no defeats and 276 points to date. Left to right: Dinger, halfback; Dillon, halfback; Lafferty, quarterback; Milton, fullback, and Ed Rush, quarterback. Aren't they big brutes!

Lawther Makes Shifts In Titan Lineup For Juniata

(Special To The News)

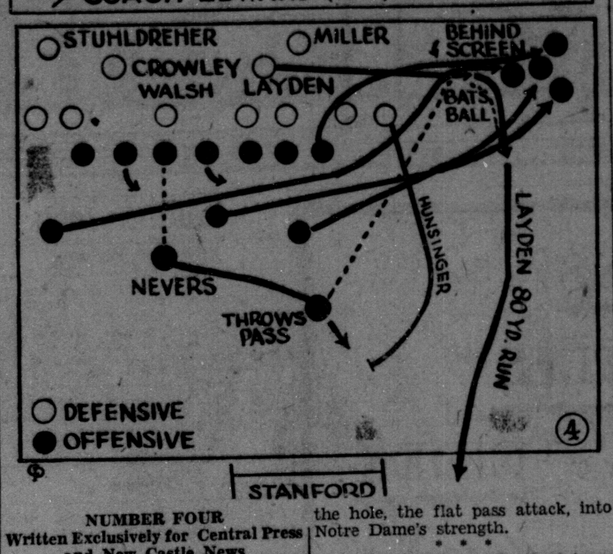

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 21—Coach John Lawther, faced with the loss by injury of a number of players, has made a number of changes in the Westminster College lineup for Saturday's game with Juniata College on the Titan field.

James Bloker, Sandusky, O., utility player who has been used at halfback, center and end, was injured in the Grove City game and will be on the sidelines for two weeks. Pete Leyshock, Farrell freshman center, has been shifted to right end in place of Bloker and Irving Franklin has been changed from guard to center in place of Leyshock. Regdon, Homestead boy, or Hollander, Long Island product, will be used at guard in place of Franklin.

Juniata will have seven seniors on the team which opposes the Titans here Saturday, while Lawther again plans to start eight or nine freshmen against the invaders. The Titans have won two games and lost two so far this season, and have five more contests on the schedule. If Lawther can break even with the "freshmen" outfit he has this year, next year should give Westminster a better, more experienced eleven.

Rockne's Best Plays

By COACH EDWARD (SLIP) MADIGAN

NUMBER FOUR

Written Exclusively for Central Press and New Castle News

Knute Rockne was quick to detect the other fellow's weakness seize upon it and play to it by shock action. He demonstrated this most strikingly in preparing for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses game against the great Red Horde of Stanford, led by Ernie Nevers, in 1924.

Glenn (Pop) Warner, Stanford's foxy coach, thought he had perfected an infallible flat screen pass to use on Rockne's Raiders in this game. Warner had put it in play late in the season against California in the "Big Game" and it worked like a charm.

In this clash the new weapon was so devastating that it brought Stanford from far in the rear, scored three touchdowns late in the game and brought about a 20 to 20 tie with one of the late Andy Smith's great teams. It had California in a state of bewilderment.

Warner always took pride in telling that while Notre Dame usually won its games, Stanford always gained the most ground from scrimmage, win, lose or draw.

By design "Rock" let word trickle out to the Pacific coast to Warner's ears that Ernie Nevers was undoubtedly a great line smasher. In fact, "Rock" let himself be quoted, Nevers was so great that he was second only to Elmer Layden, Notre Dame's big power play shot that year.

Of course, Rockne knew that Nevers had no peer for sheer power at hitting the line. And he doubted if Notre Dame could match power play for power play with Stanford and come out on top. He also had a hunch that to beat Stanford he would have to turn Stanford's ace in the hole, the flat pass attack, into Notre Dame's strength.

I had scouted the Stanford team on the coast all season and met Rockne and his team at Tuscon on its way to the coast for the game

What suspicions "Rock Harbored about Stanford's passing threat were confirmed when I showed him how effective the play had been against Stanford's rival coast teams.

Rockne was steeped in forward pas lore. He was a foremost exponent of the art of air attack. But I think he took the most pride of all in developing teams that were adept at defense against passes. "Rock" seldom lost a game fought in the air.

He became convinced that Stanford would make the most of its great pasing play. So he halted the team at Tuscon for three days and drillel it against Stanford's copyrighted flat screen pass, even at the hazard of losing the game for failure to stop Nevers and the Stanford running attack. He forgot all about Nevers and told his players to do the same.

A typical Stanford flat screen pass was used in scrimmage at Tucson and Layden intercepted four of them in a row. Rockne seemed to grasp right there just what was going to happen at Pasadena.

He stressed the necessity of quick gathering of every available man who interferance around the man who intercepted a Stanford pass.

The game went along and Notre Dame was leading 13 to 10 but Notre Dame was tiring. Nevers pecked away at the line viciously, but the Irish stopped him at the one-yard line for downs and Layden with one of his long, beautiful spirals kicked out of danger. Nevers came back—lit for bear.

Two tries at the line and then Nevers faded back for Stanford's first pass. The Notre Dame team spotted the play in a flash. The ball shot across the field and Layden of Notre Dame stood there waiting for it.

Layden jumped up like a basketball center and bounced the ball out of the reach of a Stanford end receiver. I think it was either Solomon or Ted Shipkey.

As Layden leaped he shouted "ball" and every Notre Dame player on his feet charged over in that direction. Layden had batted the ball in the direction of the Stanford goal and he had to jump over the back of a Stanford man to recapture it before it hit the ground. But he did it and took the ball on a dead run.

By this time, the entire Notre Dame team on the field had swarmed around him. Down the field they sprinted, 80 yards for a touchdown. It was a marvelous play, most of it premeditated, started by Stanford and finished by Notre Dame.

Stanford now needed more than a touchdown to win and Warner launched his customary wild passing attack that has brought him more than one last minute victory. But a few moments later Nevers tried the flat screen pass again and Notre Dame again intercepted. Layden this time running 70 yards to a touchdown.

The final score was 27 to 10 and Kockne had turned Stanford's dark deep threat into a boomerange.

I will always believe that Knute Rockne won that game in Tuscon, Ariz., many miles from where it was played.

Court Hands Down Opinion In Case Of W. M. Tribby Against Railroad

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers this morning in the case of William M. Tribby, Jr., against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, motion of defendant to strike off plaintiff's amended statement of claim is refused.

The case is one growing out of an accident on the Pennsylvania crossing west of Edenburg on July 28, 1930. Plaintiff's truck, driven by Robert Cover, was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train and practically demolished.

Suit was brought against the Pennsylvania for $7,950. Included in the amount of damages claimed was a bill of $350 for loss of use of the truck for ten days. This claim was involved in the amended statement of the plaintiff to which the defense raised objection.

Franklin Girls Have Discussion

Ben Franklin Girl Reserves Discuss "Charm" At Tuesday Meeting

One of the best meetings the Girl Reserve Club of Benjamin Franklin junior high school has ever had was that of Tuesday after school, in the junior high auditorium.

The meeting was called to order by Josephine Daino, the president, who introduced the devotionals chairman, Doris McClelland. Doris conducted a short worship service.

Billie Glenn, vice president, explained and demonstrated the manner in which the Girl Reserve stands at attention to repeat the code.

Announcements concerning the recognition ceremony and a pirate party were made. The recognition service will take place at the Y. W. C. A. November 10. The pirate adventure comes on Tuesday evening, Oct. 27, at seven o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

Betty Nicholson, finance chairman, aroused much curiosity by her announcement concerning the collection of baby pictures. It is a mystery to what use the pictures will be put.

Miss Marian Wilson, Girl Reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A., announced plans for "jubilee week", coming November 1 to 7. All Girl Reserves of New Castle are to take part in the church service at the First Methodist church on Sunday, Nov. 1. That is, the girls will attend the service in a body.

The club members then divided into committe groups (14) and with their chairman retired to different rooms. Chairmen of these committees are as follows: Billie Glenn, ceremonial; Doris McMullen, service; Gertrude Rowland, Franklin representative; Betty Nicholson, finance; Doris McClelland, devotional; Marilyn Blank, social; Josephine Windish, finance; Viola Dufford, music; Carolyn Micco, notification; Alberta McCormick, council representative; Leona Crane, membership; Vivian Hamill, publicity; Betty Shoaf, program.

Faculty advisors assisted several of the committees at their meetings. Miss Webster assisted the social; Miss Guy, devotionals; Miss Bergland, finance; Miss Wilson, ceremonial, and Miss Coulter, the program.

"Charm by Choice" was discussed by each of the committees, and after they all returned to the auditorium the representatives told what they decided a charming girl should be. Rules of charm are, according to these girls, that a girl should be pleasant, gentle, truthful, gracious, impartial, loyal, ready to serve, able to recognize beauty in things, intelligent, reverent, dependable, striving for better things and to always be sincere.

Hamilton Street Being Improved

Tarvia Surface Is Being Placed On Street By City Workmen

Workmen of the street department have completed the washing down of Hamilton street and on Thursday morning will begin to pour tarvia over it. The job should be completed Friday afternoon and will be ready for traffic by Saturday morning.

When completed Hamilton street from Long avenue to a point beyond Electric street will be in sound condition. Instead of pouring the compound over the depressions in the street, Councilman W. Stanley Treser thought it better to fill in all the depressions with concrete, thus giving the tarvia compound a firm base.

For a number of years Hamilton street has been in bad shape but because of some difficulties arising over the allocation of costs the work of resurfacing it has been delayed. Immediately upon the straightening out of these difficulties Mr. Treser started his men filling the depressions and the job will be finished Saturday.

WESTMINSTER GUILD MEETS ON TUESDAY

Monthly business and social session of the Westminster Guild of the Central Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening at eight o'clock in the parlors of the church with twenty-three members in attendance.

Devotionals were in charge of Miss Margaret Lowery. Mrs. Howard Magill gave a very interesting talk on her experience at Paddy Stockdale School in the mountains, which she visited during the past summer as a missionary.

After the address, the president, Miss Geraldine Fry took charge and reports of the secretary and treasurer were received and accepted. Silk hose and underwear were then collected, which are to be given to Miss Mary Moore, a blind lady, to make into rugs. A general discussion followed.

At the close of the evening, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses Dorothy Kennedy and Eleanor Winter. The decorations were in keeping with the Hallowe'en season.

CITY NOT INCLUDED IN MILD EPIDEMIC

Although there is a mild epidemic of infantile paralysis in the eastern United States, particularly in New York state, New Castle is rather free from it, according to Dr. W. L. Steen, health director for the city. In the past two months there have been two cases reported in New Castle, one of which proved fatal.

Because scientists have not yet been able to isolate the germ of infantile paralysis, the medical profession has not yet been able to offer a specific preventative against it. Reasonable care of infants seems to be the best advice.

Navy to Hunt "Tiger" at Princeton

When the Navy gridsters meet up with their old Princetonian rivals at Princeton, on October 24, they will march out on the field with the amiable intention of repeating the awful shellacking they handed out the Tigers last year. The score on that occasion was 31-0, and the most optimistic of the sailors look to a similar count this year. In Captain Tuttle, the Navy has a skipper of outstanding ability and with a ball-carrier like Campbell and a kicker of Kane's sterling worth at his command, the future admirals from Annapolis see no reason why the Tiger's tail should not be twisted and twisted hard. However, the Princetonians have their own views on the matter, and their Captain Yeckley has more than a nodding acquaintance with grid strategy. One of the big shots in the Tiger locker is James, whose running has made him a force with which to be reckoned.

Captured Gun Will Be Placed On Public Square

Dedication To Take Place On Friday Afternoon At 3 O'Clock

Foundation is being prepared today on the public square, for placing of a captured German gun, which has been received in this city, and will be dedicated as a war memorial by the local post of the Disabled War Veterans.

The dedication will take place on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The gun was secured through the services of Congressman Dr. Howard Swick.

Details of the dedication program will be announced in The News on Thursday.

Twenty-Fourth Annual Baptist General Convention Gets Under Way At Altoona

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 21.—More than 1,000 delegates were welcomed today at the opening of the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Baptist general convention. Rev. Dr. S. J. Arthur, of Erie, presided.

Mayor John J. McMurray and Harry L. Johnston, Altoona newspaper editor, welcomed the delegates.

The morning session was occupied with the reading of reports. Rev. F. W. Tomlinson, Rev. W. Russell, and Mrs. John P. Thompson, all of Philadelphia, spoke and Dr. T. T. Richards, of Scranton, delivered the sermon.

Disabled Vets To Meet Thursday

Important Meeting Of Fred L. Rentz Post Will Be Held In City Building

Members of the Fred L. Rentz Post, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will hold an important meeting in the Sons of Veterans hall, City Building, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Commander Robert Kerr announced today.

Several matters which will be of vital interest to the post will be announced at this meeting, and all members are urged to be present.

Any disabled veteran of the world war is eligible to join the Rentz post, and all eligible men are invited to attend the meeting.

Off for Holiday

Ronald Coleman, popular screen star, looks as if he was mightily pleased with the world and all it holds as he sails from New York on the S. S. Conte Grande. But why not? Isn't he bound for a three-months' holiday in Italy and the south of France? Yes, sir! Who wouldn't grin under such circumstances.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Active Rail Stocks Drop Off Slightly

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The active railroad stocks fell off 1 to 6½ points in the early trading today as Wall Street's first reaction to the commerce commission's decision on freight rates.

There has been little expectation of the granting of the full 15 per cent increase in rates, but Wall Street looked for a raise of 5 to 8 per cent to be administered by the roads receiving it, instead of pooling the increase for the protection of the smaller and weaker roads. However, the decision was helpful, in many respects, mainly as pointing the way to an improvement in the cerdit structure of the transportation systems as a whole.

There was no deluge of selling in the first period, as shown by the 300,000-share volume of trading in the first half-hour, against 400,000 in the same period yesterday. The early dips in many stocks did little more than erase the sharp advances recorded earlier in the week. Atchison fell off 5½ points to 114. Union Pacific was down 6½ at 113; New Haven down 3½ at 43; New York Central down 3 at 60; Chesapeake and Ohio down 3½ at 30½; Baltimore and Ohio down 2¾; Pennsylvania down 3¾.

Elaborate Dedication Ceremonies To Open George Washington Bridge

* * * * * * * * *

Sea, Land and Air Forces to Take Part in Celebration of Opening of Giant New Span Over Hudson River, Linking New York and New Jersey.

Plans for the formal dedication of the new George Washington Bridge, spanning the Hudson River and linking the States of New York and New Jersey, have been completed and the ceremony will take place on October 24. Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, will be the principal speaker at the dedication. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Governor Morgan Larson of New Jersey will formally open the $60,000,000 bridge by cutting a ribbon stretched across the roadway mid-way between the two States. Towering 680 feet above the water, at its highest point, the structure makes a beautiful picture and a lasting tribute to man's mechanical genius.

President on Yorktown Battlefield

Speaking from a platform erected upon the ground where Lord Cornwallis surrendered to George Washington 150 years ago, President Hoover reminded the 30,000 people who gathered to celebrate the Battle of Yorktown anniversary that it was only courage that enabled the patriots of long ago to win the freedom that we now enjoy. The President expressed his confidence in America's overcoming its present obstacles if that same courage which our forefathers showed at Yorktown is practiced against the enemy—depression. Photo shows the President as he delivered his address. Mrs. Hoover accompanied the Chief Executive.

Discusses World Destiny With Hoover

Here are four typical poses of Pierre Laval, Premier of France, who, in epochal conversations with President Hoover, in Washington, will help to determine the course of future events in international affairs. The French political leader is of rather short stature with a dark complexion lightened by a pleasant smile. The center portrait depicts Premier Laval in his most recent picture.

Hear Appeal For Pardon For Pete Christean

A. T. Kissinger Makes Plea Before Pardon Board For Prisoner

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21—Mistaken identity today was advanced before the State Pardon Board as the basic plea for Pete Christean, Lawrence county, who was sentenced to death in December, 1921, for the murder of James Cucia, a New Castle policeman, in May, 1918. The death sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment.

A. T. Kissinger of New Castle said his client's real name is Pete Christ and that the actual slayer of the policeman is still at large. Cucia was killed when he tried to arrest four men who were attempting to rob a house. One of the four later was found dead nearby and another was killed while evading arrest. Kissinger claimed the other two involved in the crime are still at large.

Kissinger told the board that he has an affidavit from Mrs. Fred Shuler, now dead, in which she claimed that her late husband who acted as interpreter in the case had assisted in "framing" Christean. According to Kissinger's story the affidavit was obtained a short time after the interpreter's death.

Pacific-type locomotives recently tested in France, ran from Paris to Bordeaux in five hours, 48 minutes an average speed, including stops of 62 miles an hour.

Big Garbage Rush Takes Little Coal

Howard Phillips, superintendent of the garbage disposal plant is breathing easier again. The unusual rush during the canning season is about over and the plant is nearly back to normalcy. Just now the bulk of the additional garbage, over and above the usual amount, is caused by apple peelings, cores and seeds.

The apple butter season is in its stride and plenty of spread seems to be in the process of being manufactured, judging from the amount of peels and seeds.

A rather unusual feature of the heavy garbage months, July, August and September, was the fact that only four wheelbarrows full of coal were used at the plant. Ordinarily the plant runs without any coal, the disposal system being such that the garbage is its own fuel.

Hundreds of tons of peach skins, tomatoes, watermelon rinds and green corn presented a task to the disposal forces for most of the garbage was soggy and wet. In September there was 220 tons over and above the usual amount of garbage disposed of, and occasionally it was necessary to throw in a shovel full of coal. The total amount of coal used however would not exceed half a ton.

Another difficulty experienced since the advent of cold weather is the lack of thin boxes and heavy cardboard boxes. These provide fuel for the burning of wet garbage but since cold weather started the stores have been burning their boxes in their own furnaces.

SAXOPHONES SILENCED.

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 21.—Police here are still puzzled over the subtlety of a thief who stole saxophones, a guitar and a banjo from a local dance orchestra. The instruments were missing more than two weeks. Finally, a farm worker found them in a field. "Now, they can have them back," read a cryptic note left with the instruments. Officials are seeking somebody wearing the satisfied grin of a victim who has enjoyed two weeks' relief from the cacaphony of an orchestra rehearsal.

Story Hour To Be Held Thursday

Another story hour will be held at the Free Public Library, Thursday afternoon, for the juvenile patrons of the library, and another large crowd is anticipated.

Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian has another good subject to discuss. Last week, there were 126 children present for the Story Hour and more are expected this week.

MAN, 76, NEVER IN DEBT OR ILL CLAIMS RECORD

OWEN, Wis., Oct. 21.—Charles Ramberg, 76, arrived in the United States from Norway at 14, with only 15 cents—yet he has lived for three-quarters of a century without incurring a single debt. And never in those 76 years has he taken medicine or been ill. Ramber was a member of the surveying party which fixed Wisconsin's northern boundary line in the 70's. He is a veteran logger, breeder of horses, and builder.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

One of the annual pilgrimages into Pittsburgh that is always a pleasure is a trip to the International Art Exhibition. Not that we can always understand the idea back of trees with triangular trunks and men with arms like octopi, but there are always scores of canvasses that hold your attention with their beauty and skill.

As interesting as the exhibition is, we have one in Lawrence County just now that seems to me to top the one in Pittsburgh. It's the exhibition that Dame Nature has prepared out along the Slippery Rock, with a score of other exhibitions everywhere there are trees. It's nice to see the work of the human artists on canvas, but they can never hope to get the effects that the old dame has secured.

That old Spanish custom of tossing overripe tomatoes around the streets during the evenings just preceding Hallow'en is beginning to pall just a trifle upon a lot of the neighbors. They mess things up so.

There was that chap on an East Side street a few nights ago who just had his automobile washed and polished. He was proud of the job and he drove the folks out for a little air. As he drove home some of the boys treated him to a bowl of tomato consomme, in the raw.

The next morning his car looked like the remains of the canning season before the women clean up. And the owner of the car is all set to do some cleaning up himself when he meets a few of the vegetable bomb tossers.

Hallowe'en wouldn't be what it is in Slabtown without a parade. And this year's is going to be bigger and better (quotation from the committee) than ever. Red fire, bands, prizes and what ever else it takes to make a lot of innocent whoopee.

You can't fool some people any of the time, in spite of what Lincoln said. In a store window uptown there is a huge puff ball mushroom An enormous thing weighing some nine pounds. Couple of lassies went by there Tuesday afternoon and after looking it over fore and aft one of them said, "aw you can't fool me, that's just a big lump of dirty bread dough."

People like that probably believe that the Battle in the Argonne Forest was a frameup for the pictures. And that Byrd's trip to the South Pole was just a plug for the ice manufacturers.

Pittsburgh Plans Tribute To Edison

City Streets Will Be Darkened For Minute As Mark Of Respect

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Streets of this city will be in darkness for one minute tonight in tribute to the memory of Thomas A. Edison, Public Works Director Edward Lang announced. The period of darkness will be in compliance with a proclamation by President Hoover.

RECORD FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—J. M. Funk, 85, a widely known lumber dealer here, has completed what is believed a record for Sunday school attendance in the county. He has not missed a single session of the men's class at the Waynesburg Presbyterian Church for the past 38 years. Funk considers the most remarkable feature of his record the fact that he has enjoyed sufficient good health to attain it.

TERRORIZED BY LION

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Ranchers in the Black Forest region 14 miles east of Colorado Springs are hunting for a mountain lion which has been terrifying the region with its unearthly screams resembling the cries of a woman in pain. The creature was sighted once by Gilbert Tevebaum, who shot at it but missed. Ranchers fear it will attack domestic animals, or even children.
